2 Confess Michigan, Indiana Bombings

LABOR LEADER ARRESTED IN DYNAMITE PLOT

Suspect Charges He Was Paid $1,900 for Bombing Power Lines of Utility.

MOTIVE HELD SECRET

Blasts Costing Electrical Company $50,000, Crippled Service in 2 States.

(By United Press)

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—Police said today that two men had confessed complicity in nine bombings of Michigan and Indiana electric line towers and poles that caused $50,000 damage, and had implicated two others.

One of those implicated was John A. Marks, Michigan City, business agent of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, an affiliate of the American Federation of Labor.

They said Frank Lung, 25, confessed placing and helping explode the dynamite bombs and told them that he and his colleagues expected to bomb the Twin Branch dam of the St. Joseph river at Mishawaka, Ind. He said he had been assisted by Parrish E. Freeman, Michigan City, who, police said, is an ex-convict. Freeman signed a statement too.

The three and Frank Yax, who was held in St. Joseph, Mich., awaiting transfer to South Bend, were held without charge. Authorities were expected to page the counties in which the bombings occurred before determining where any charges would be filed.

Neither of the men who confessed would explain why they had bombed the power lines. Police said that Freeman charged that Marks paid him $1,900 for five of the bombings. Marks denied the charge and refused to discuss the case.

The bombings crippled the service of the Indiana and Michigan Electric company at various times during the last year.

RAIN OR SNOW

That's Weatherman's Promise and It'll Get Colder, Too.

There was more dreary weather ahead today for Mansfielders, but at least there's no cold wave in sight.

With the temperature just below freezing, rain or snow was forecast for tonight and Friday. If it rains, the rain will turn to snow Friday as colder weather spreads over the state, the weatherman said.

Streets were still coated with ice this morning making driving hazardous.

Under heavily overcast skies, the mercury climbed slowly today, reaching 30 degrees at noon. The low last night was 23 and the 24-hour average, 25.5, four degrees below normal.

SCOUTS WIND UP CITY REIGN WITH MANHUNT

Serious-Minded Boys Launch National Scout Observance, Then Decide on Fun.

DENT NAMED IN AFFIDAVIT

Executive Accused of Tearing Up Hat, But He Eludes Them After Taking Movies.

After spending most of the morning running the city government, a group of serious-minded Boy Scout officials got their heads together and wound up their one-day terms with a bit of horse-play.

But even in fun, the scouts knew pretty well what they were doing although they did come out second best in their plot to trap Floyd Dent, area Scout executive. The whole business was part of the opening of National Scout week here.

It might have been mutiny, but the Scout Mayor Richard Weaver, with Service-Safety Director Robert Burns and Police Chief Morton Frankel appeared in municipal court shortly before noon and filed an affidavit for the arrest of the scout leader.

Municipal Judge Ralph Hill and City Solocitor William Maxwell went into a huddle with the other officials and as the result a warrant was issued for Dent's arrest.

All Over a Hat.

Dent, the scout officials said, had offended some of his scouts at camp last summer by what they said was the malicious destruction of property—specifically—a hat, size 6⅞, valued at 10 cents.

The alleged offense, the youths charged, occurred on July 18, when he "deliberately and wilfully" destroyed the personal property of the scout service director.

Armed with the warrants, Chief Frankel, with scout policemen, started a city-wide search for Dent, who not knowing of the charges, appeared at City hall.

The executive, with a movie camera under his arm, was very satisfied with the way his scouts were conducting themselves as city officials, took some "shots" of the youths in action and then left.

Other scouts holding down city jobs today were Lee Adams, auditor. Robert Stevenson, engineer, and Fred Morey, fire chief.

Toledo Prisoners Battle Guard In Futile Escape Try

TOLEDO—(AP)—An attempt by Ernest Kish, 20, murder suspect, and Alvin Knight, 28, of Flint, Mich., convicted robber, to break out of Lucas county jail last night was frustrated by officers after a battle in which Deputy Sheriff John Oravecz, 37, was injured.

Oravecz was struck on the head with a milk bottle, pummeled by two prisoners and had his hand bitten before fellow officers, who heard him call for help, could overpower his assailants, Sheriff James O'Reilly said.

Officers believe a car bearing a Michigan license parked by the jail and which drove hurriedly away was occupied by confederates.

Mayor Says It'll Be 'At Least' Several Days Before He Acts on Bill to Cut Work-Week.

Mayor William J. Locke today was marking time on an ordinance passed by city council Tuesday night that would shorten the work-week of city policemen.

The unsigned bill which was approved by a vote of 7 to 2 over the protests of Police Chief Meade K. Bates was still on Locke's desk today. He has 10 days in which to attach his signature, veto it or leave it become a law without his signature.

Locke said he had not been able yet to study the legislation which was presented to council as a surprise measure, and that it would be "at least" a couple days before he would decide on whether he would sign it or veto the measure

The bill, which provides that policemen be given every sixth day off instead of every eighth as at present, was sponsored by Councilman-at-large Philip Smith, chairman of council's newly created traffic committee.

Councilmen C. N. Shultz and George C. Kyle voted against the ordinance which Bates told council would "seriously cripple" the police department if approved.

Reds' Main Line Falling Back as Power Weakens

Helsinki Says Defense Troops Hold Up Despite Continual Hammering Of Mannerheim Line; Russian Planes Bomb Own Countrymen.

BULLETIN

HELSINKI, Finland—(UP)—Finnish troops are constantly liquidating isolated Russian army groups northeast of Lake Ladoga and are collecting important quantities of war materials, it was reported today.

(By Associated Press)

HELSINKI—The Finns, withstanding continual heavy hammering by the Red army against the Mannerheim line on the Karelian isthmus, reported today that Soviet Russian forces on the Arctic Salla front were in retreat.

In Russian air raids on cities of the Finnish interior, war's fortunes led to the bombardment of a prison full of captive Russian troops.

The prisoners all were herded safely to shelters yesterday during the four-hour raid by 10 Russian planes on the north central town of Kajaani. Two Finns were killed and many others injured.

The Russian bombs were reported to have damaged two hospitals and a teachers' college, destroyed three houses, and fired 20 others.

Details of another raid on Turku, southwestern Finnish port, were not disclosed.

On the Salla front, reliable sources said the main body of Russians was falling back from Markajarvi toward the town of Salla, under cover of light Russian attacks at Markajarvi.

Little had been heard from this front since the Russians were reported three weeks ago to be fighting a desperate rear-guard action to cover the withdrawal of 40,000 men towards the border 50 miles away.

On the Karelian isthmus the Finns reported they still were rolling back wave after wave of Russian infantry and tank-drawn, sledge-riding shock troops in the Summa area.

The Helsinki civil guard warned civilians last night to be on the alert for saboteurs and spies dropped by parachute from Russian planes. The newspaper Helsingin Sanomat said that such Russians were being landed at undisclosed places.

VOTE TEST OFF

Dewey in Illinois Primary But Taft Stays Out.

WASHINGTON —(UP)— There will be no test of popularity of two Republican candidates—Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Thomas E. Dewey of New York—in Illinois, considered a pivotal state in the 1940 elections.

Dewey has filed his name in the Illinois Republican presidential primary but Taft has decided not to enter. He said his decision was made because the primary is merely advisory and because he could not get away from the senate long enough for an adequate campaign.

"The only decisive popular verdict on candidates," he said, "results from a personal campaign in which the voters get a chance to see, hear and meet the candidates. That is the kind of campaign I conducted in Ohio and the kind I would conduct in the nation, if nominated."

Camera to Follow Quints' Last Months In Nursery; Join Family at End of '40

What effect will family life have on the Dionne quintuplets? All America has become interested in the answer to this question since the announcement in December that the famous sisters of Callander will be taken from the exclusiveness of their nursery-hospital-school and placed with their family by the end of this year.

Readers of the Sunday News-Journal will have an opportunity to follow these children — in pictures — through their last months at the Dafoe hospital and into their new life in which they will be more closely associated with their six brothers and sisters and their parents.

They have always played with their brothers and sisters and spent many hours with their mother at the nursery, which is just across the road from the Olivia Dionne home, but there will be a decided difference when they leave the home where they have had the most meticulous care and have been protected by police guard.

How will they adapt themselves to a house full of noisy children with no regular hours for naps and meals? The Dionne quints will be of even more interest to the public as they go through this transition period.

The quints always will be children of public interest and it is quite likely that a camera will continue to photograph their development from time to time, as has been done in the past.

Readers of the Sunday News-Journal will be able to follow this interesting period in the life of the quints, for starting Sunday, their pictured doings will be a regular Sunday feature.

Claims Labor Board Seeks to Align WPA and Strikers

REPUBLIC HITS ORDERS TO PAY STRIKE WAGES

Steel Company Contends It Shouldn't Be Made to Pay Back WPA Expenditure.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Republic Steel corporation contended today the labor board tended to align WPA with strikers.

Republic declared it should not be required to reimburse the government for WPA wages paid to employes made idle by the 1937 "little steel" strike. This was one contention in Republic's appeal to the supreme court from an NLRB order directing the company to reinstate certain CIO strikers, with back pay. The order, involving only Republic's Ohio plants, recently was upheld by the third circuit court at Philadelphia.

"WPA cannot furnish work to all applicants . . . officials seeking to reduce costs of projects naturally will tend to prefer strikers, in view of the possibility of obtaining a return of amounts paid," the corporation said.

NLRB "made up its mind as to every issue and question of law and fact involved without affording the petitioner (Republic) any opportunity to contest the charges made against it," the corporation argued.

Republic declared the order was based upon NLRB's finding that the strike was caused by unfair labor practices, and asserted "undisputed evidence disclosed that the sole cause was the company's lawful refusal to sign a written collective bargaining contract presented to it by the SWOC (Steel Workers Organizing Committee) as a step in the drive of the CIO to organize the nation's steel industry."

The 1937 strike in "little steel" also involved Youngstown Sheet & Tube and Inland, and eventually one Pennsylvania plant of Bethlehem. Republic's Ohio plants are at Cleveland, Massillon, Youngstown, Warren and Niles, and normally employ about 40,000 men.

Hits Hiring Order.

Also attacked was a section of the board order which required preferential hiring—at any plant in Ohio, Monroe, Mich., Pittsburgh and Beaver Falls, Pa., or any plant acquired after the hearing—of strikers for whom jobs were not available at their old place of work. To make jobs available, NLRB directed Republic to discharge employes hired after the strike, and then set up the preferential list for those still not re-hired.

"Ordinarily, an employe laid off at Canton, O., would have no seniority right to be employed at Beaver Falls, Pa., but must be rehired as a new man, if at all," said the brief

WOMAN LOSES $15,000 SUIT

Petit Jury Brings in Directed Verdict for Property Owner, Sued as Result of Fall.

Its week's work finished in short order, the county petit jury had recessed today until next Wednesday.

After hearing testimony yesterday for the plaintiff in a $15,000 personal damage action, the jurors signed a directed verdict for Harry O'Brien, former city waterworks superintendent, defendant in the suit.

The plaintiff, Mrs. Minnie Richards, had sought the amount for injuries she received and the loss of her unborn child allegedly as the result of a fall at O'Brien's property at 14 East First street.

A motion for the directed verdict was submitted by defense counsel, Attys. Cummins and Kramer, and granted by the court. Attys. H. M. Rust and C. F. Creedman were Mrs. Richards' counsel.

A case scheduled for trial today was settled. It involved a suit for $600 damages against the city of Mansfield and was filed by Leroy Watkins, 102 South Foster street. In his action, Watkins contended a sewer catch basin became clogged several weeks ago and caused water to flow into the basement of his house.

In the only case tried by the jury, an appeal from a municipal court decision was denied by the jurors who found in favor of Mrs. Martha Burger, Mansfield, the defendant. Archie Cornell, a real estate agent, the plaintiff, had sought to collect $120 from her as the commission he contended was due on a land contract.

The Richland County Workers Alliance had joined other Alliance groups today in a campaign for jobs for 3,000,000 unemployed men, elimination of the 18-month layoff clause for WPA workers, and a higher monthly wage for persons on work relief projects.

The Alliance also will seek higher relief standards and will urge Gov. John W. Bricker to call a specific session of the Ohio legislature to set up a $6,000,000 emergency relief fund.

John Sparks, president of the county Alliance, said the organization will take up the relief program at a special meeting at 8 p. m. today at 15½ North Park street.

REPORTS DEMS SEE DEFEAT IN PENNSY AHEAD

But Leaders Appear Confident Democrats Will Win in N. Y. State Next Year.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Tapping Democratic news sources here after the national committee meeting, it appears today that some party leaders are almost reconciled to losing Pennsylvania next November but are confident they can win again in New York state.

New York and the solid south are counted as the foundation stones of the hoped-for November election victory. Loss of New York or a split in the south on the third term issue would be more than Democrats could expect to overcome in view of the farm belt trend away from the party which was demonstrated in the 1938 elections.

Some party veterans are confident, however, that southern conservatives generally would support President Roosevelt for a third term despite their preconvention determination to prevent his renomination. A few might balk. But practical southern politicians recall the fate of two of their number who distinguished themselves in 1928 by bolting the Democratic ticket headed by Alfred E. Smith.

The solid south broke that year, Florida, North Carolina, Texas and Virginia casting their 50 electoral votes for Herbert C. Hoover. Sen. Furnifold Simmons, D., N. C., and Sen. Thomas J. Heflin, D., Ala., bolted Smith and were promptly retired from the senate the next time the voters got a crack at them. Some southern statesmen who are not particularly friendly to Mr. Roosevelt believe 1940 bolters on the third term issue would be likely to suffer the fate of Simmons and Heflin.

There is considerable assurance, therefore, that the south will stay hitched this time, even though Mr. Roosevelt again is a candidate, and a mixture of hope and confidence that the party ticket can carry New York state. If so, the Democrats would have a nest egg of 160 electoral votes, just 106 short of a majority of the electoral college.

Hope For Even Break.

From that point the going becomes rougher. There probably are four electoral votes to be had in Rhode Island, especially if Mr. Roosevelt again is the candidate. Democrats would hope to break even or much better with the 65 electoral votes distributed among the 11 mountain, southwestern and Pacific coast states. The upper Mississippi valley moved away from the New Deal in 1938 and some Democrats believe that such states as Iowa, for instance, should not be figured among Democratic possibilities this year.

That brings the electoral vote upon which Democrats are depending for victory to around 195 with some 50 votes to go for a majority. The battleground where most of those 50 votes will be won or lost lies in Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. If the G. O. P. can hold those states and their 88 electoral votes there is likely to be a change of administration here on Jan. 20, 1941 when a president will be inaugurated.

CRESTLINE — Mr. and Mrs. Otto Sutter and son, Otto, jr., spent Monday and Tuesday with Mrs. Sutter's brother, Charles Malone, who is a patient at the Presbyterian hospital in Pittsburgh, Pa.

EARL K. TROLL

TROLL ELECTED 'Y' PRESIDENT

Top Man in Recent Membership Drive Chosen by Board; Others Re-elected.

Earl K. Troll was elected president of directors at a dinner meeting of the group last night at the Evergreens cafeteria. He succeeds Harvey Bailey.

Troll was the only officer named to the board, the others being re-elected. They are R. M. Calene, vice-president, Carl Pollock, secretary, and Herman Balyeat, treasurer.

Troll is now serving his second term on the board. He has been a member of the "Y" for 33 years, and last fall was top man in the annual enrollment campaign, signing up the largest number of new memberships.

Two new board members, Robert Remy and Lowell Bourns, elected at the annual meeting, were welcomed by Calene, who presided in the absence of Bailey. The board approved a course in child guidance to be conducted at the "Y" for parents.

Reporting on "Y" activities for January, Ralph B. Chapman, general secretary, told the board that a total of 8,152 persons took part in 429 different activities there during the month, an average of 313 persons per day.

GUNMAN PERILS 2 GALION BOYS, GETS $46 LOOT

Youths, 16, Forced to Turn Over Cash at Gas Station by Man With Gun.

GALION—A lone bandit, unmasked, held up two 16-year-old attendants at the point of a gun, at the Texaco Filling station here Wednesday night and escaped with $46. The station is located at the corner of South Boston and Harding Way West, in the third block from the public square.

Around 7:20 p. m. Harry Jackson, jr., 16, son of the filling station proprietor, and James Benbow, 16, were looking at a magazine in the station room when the door opened and a man stepped into the room. Not speaking, the visitor stood there for several seconds.

Looking up from his book, Benbow was told by the visitor to stand up. This attracted Jackson's attention away from the book, and he too, was told by the bandit to get up.

At the point of a gun, the boys were told by the bandit to get the money out of the cash drawer. He gave Jackson a money bag in which to place the coin. When Jackson came to the nickels and small change, he was told that there was enough in the bag.

The robber then told the boys to step into the toilet room and stay there until he was gone. The boys later told police that the bandit was walking and was not seen to get in a car. Because they stayed in the room, they did not see in which direction he left.

As soon afterward as was possible, young Jackson tried to telephone police, and being unable to get an answer right away, he went home and reported the hold-up to his mother, and then went back to the station and asked the telephone operator to summon police.

The boys later described the robber to police as being around 35 years of age; five feet, 10 inches tall, and about 140 pounds. They said he had a slim face, long pointed nose and pointed chin. He was shaven and had a light complexion. He wore a grey hat with brown band and grey overcoat. Police thought he used a blue steel .25 automatic pistol.

CRESTLINE — A son, named Anthony Charles, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Malatto, of Bauer avenue, at Emergency hospital.

SHARECROPPER'S WOES LESSENED BY 'LABORATORY'

Missouri's 'Boot Heel' Area Becomes Proving Ground.

(By Associated Press)

SIKESTON, Mo.—The relatively small "boot heel" area of southeast Missouri has become a laboratory for solving the South's broken down 70-year-old system of sharecropping.

The immediate task is to provide for the homeless, but among the powers that be the ultimate hope is to iron out the trouble trough a revolutionary resettlement program with the aid of the federal government.

"Between 200 and 300 farms have been sold in the eight southeast Missouri counties during the last six months," said Caleb Smith, Sikeston land merchant.

He explained all of these farms had at least one tennant and the larger ones had more. One case was cited where a 1,280-acre place, farmed by 13 tennants and sharecropper families, was broken up and sold by an insurance company, and all the tenants were notified to move.

The plight of the cotton workers first was called to national attention a year ago this month when 1,500 croppers, including aged remnants of the slave days and mothers carrying week-old babies, staged an alarming sit-down demonstration on the main highways.

Moved From Roads.

After camping along the roadsides for a week under conditions which the state health department ruled were a menace to public health, the "squatters" were moved off the highways—without violence—by state police.

Hundreds of them, mostly negroes, were herded to a sandy clearing near the Mississippi river levee and far from the main traveled roads. There they again huddled in crude shacks fashioned from sticks and burlap sacks. Food came from various unknown sources, although there was no organized charity.

Then along came a group of sympathizers from St. Louis with a gift of a 93-acre tract of hillside land in Butler county as a refuge for down-and-out sharecroppers.

The homeless crowd began moving in, and today the modern city of Poplar Bluff is apprehensive over the possibility of seeing the camp, appropriately called "Cropperville," take roots as a permanent community right at its back door.

"We won't stand for it," cried one Poplar Bluff citizen.

But leaders of the other element politely point out they hold title to the land as they travel through the district advising "anyone put off your place" to head for Cropperville."

Realization that the situation is more acute now than ever led Governor Lloyd C. Stark to call upon landowners and planters not to force evictions at least until Feb. 1, while an emergency program is being worked out for establishing the dispossessed on 5 to 10-acre subsistence tracts.

A repetition of last year's roadside movement appeared to be at least postponed.

Seek 500 Homes.

Under the new experimental program the landowner would supply the ground and the farm security administration the easy-payment loans necessary to build houses and equip the family for growing food. An initial goal of 500 homes was mentioned.

The landowners were requested to list their unused or less fertile land that is available for rent or lease. The displaced workers likewise registered for a place. A committee was set up to supervise the shifting process.

As another phase of the program, a Farm Security administration-sponsored corporation has leased 2,055 acres of land in adjoining Dunklin county and will settle about 35 poor families on tracts of 55 to 70 acres each on an easy-rent basis.

Each renter will farm his own ground, but heavy farm machinery and livestock will be used cooperatively, and marketing will be carried on through a co-operative association.

Other similar "colonies" are in prospect.

Britain Tests All Food Meant To Feed Soldiers.

(By International News Service)

LONDON—Feeding the British troops both home and abroad is a big job these days, but when the British Tommy sits down to eat, either here or in France, he can be quite confident that no chances have been taken with his food.

For expert "samplers" have been at work before the food was accepted as part of his ration.

Before any contractor is able to supply foodstuffs to the British forces he must send specifications and samples. The samples are immediately sent to the War Office where analysts carry out extensive tests.

The supplies do not mean food alone. They embrace gasoline, disinfectants and many other items. The food items alone total 250.

TRENDS SCARCE AS LIST MOVES IN FRACTIONS

Prospective Purchases of Tools in Aeronautical Field Helps Aircrafts.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Aircrafts displayed mild rising tendencies in today's stock market but numerous issues failed to develop much support.

With the ticker tape frequently idle, price changes generally were in minor fractions.

Definite trends were lacking for bonds, commodities and foreign securities markets.

Absence of real weakness in most groups, considering falling steel operations and business clouds elsewhere, was encouraging to boardrooms, but share buying incentives seemed scarce.

Those with an eye to aircraft shares heard reports large machine tool producers had agreed to give preference to orders from domestic aviation manufacturers as a means of helping fill the growing demand, both from home and abroad, for warplanes. Prospective purchases of tools in the aeronautical field were placed at some $10,000,000.

Notice was taken of a further decline in construction awards, as estimated by the Engineering-News Record for the week ended Tuesday. The latest aggregate of $57,523,000 compared with $62,942,000 the week before. In the same period last year, however, the building volume was down to $41,534,000.

Studying bank clearings for a market clue, anyalysts found this barometer, for the week concluded yesterday, showed a moderate increase over the preceding 6-day period but continued under the comparable 1939 level.

SETTLEMENT IN GAS SCRAP NEAR

Wage Issue Only Point Left in Negotiations to End Toledo Strike.

(By International News Service)

TOLEDO—An amicable settlement of Toledo's week-old gas strike appeared nearer today with the announcement by Federal Labor Conciliator David T. Roadley that all but one point of difference between the union and the gas companies had been discussed in conference.

Roadley said that only the important issue of wages had not been taken up during the discussions.

As officials of the Northwestern Ohio Natural Gas company, The Ohio Fuel Gas company and the CIO-affiliated gas workers union met in conference, peaceful picketing was reported at the companies' plants. There has been no outbreak of violence since the stoning of armed guards Monday night.

Company officials said that the gas supply was ample and that few complaints had been received from consumers.

The 200 union employes of the gas companies walked out last Thursday morning after the union and the companies had been unable to reach an agreement on a new contract.

PLUMBERS PICK SPRINGFIELD AS SESSIONS CLOSE

State Association Winds Up Convention Here; Elects Dayton Man President.

Climaxed by a grand ball attended by more than 200 plumbing contractors and their wives last night at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, the Ohio State Association of Master Plumbers concluded their 49th annual convention here yesterday.

Closing their business sessions in the afternoon, the contractors elected H. S. Saunders of Dayton, president, and selected Springfield for their 1941 golden jubilee convention. Saunders succeeds Neil S. Larsen, Toledo, who was president during the past year.

Other officers named were James B. Fitton of Bellaire, vice-president, and H. W. Eckhardt, Cleveland, secretary-treasurer.

Hoffman Renamed To Board.

Renamed to the board of directors was Charles Hoffman, Mansfield plumbing contractor, who was general convention chairman.

He will serve on the board with Larsen, Eckhardt, W. P. Leffler, Akron; A. Ellinger, Springfield; William Zernechel, Canton; Saunton, and P. R. Hollaender, Cincinnati.

Hoffman also was chosen to head the association's finance committee.

Other committee chairmen named yesterday were Roberts, sanitary and legislative; Hollaender, industrial and compensation; Larsen, publicity; Zernechel, apprenticeship; Leffler, gas; Fitton, publication; Ellinger, conference, and August Schmutz, Youngstown, membership.

Sues Government To Get Money He Once Willed U. S.

ATLANTIC, Ia.—(INS)—A suit for $7,000 recently was filed in district court at Atlantic by Frederick Kauer, 87-year-old Anita, Ia., philanthropist, who changed his mind about leaving $7,000 to the United States government.

Five years ago, Kauer's petition asserted, he signed an agreement with Leon G. Voorhees, president of the Anita State bank, transferring $7,000 to the latter, with the stipulation that he be paid six per cent interest until his death, at which time the money would be paid to the government.

During the past two years, however, Kauer declared, he had changed his mind.

"There are too many wealthy top hats running things in Washington," he explained to acquaintances. "The government has plenty of money anyway."

An additional reason for his action, Kauer explained, was that he discovered last November that he was neither the owner of the $7,000 or of a first mortgage mentioned in the agreement with Voorhees.

The suit seeks recovery of the money.

COURT RECEIPTS INCREASE $600

January Report Shows Collections Totalled $1,767.

Municipal court receipts totaling $1,767 in January increased more than $600 above the amount collected in December, the monthly report of collections prepared by Miss Isabel Gertsmeyer, deputy clerk, showed today.

From the total receipts, the city's general fund will be increased by $1,369 while $397 will be distributed to the state, county and the law library. The city's share was derived from $917 collected as fines, costs and forfeitures in criminal cases and $452 collected as costs in civil cases.

Launch Campaign to Reapportion Ohio's Legislature

LABOR HEADS IN CLEVELAND START DRIVE

Ask United Support in Move to Attack 'Domination' by State's Ruralites.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND—Cleveland labor leaders today asked united support for a movement to attack "rural domination" of the Ohio legislation by reapportioning the house of representatives.

Several hundred representatives of governmental units and political, civic and fraternal organizations attended the first meeting on behalf of the plan here last night and were told that sponsors expect to begin circulating initiative petitions throughout the state within a few weeks.

William J. Corrigan, Cleveland Federation of Labor attorney, explained the plan proposed to amend the state constitution to create 34 districts. Roughly comparable to the present senatorial districts, in which there would be at least one representative.

There would be one representative for each 60,000 persons with an additional member if there was an excess of 30,000 or more.

Frank R. Uible, former speaker of the house, and Rep. Lody Huml urged reapportionment of the senate as well as the house, and Corrigan assured them their objections to the present plan would be considered.

Uible asked revision of the senatorial districts with separate representative districts in each. Huml suggested labor back a plan for a unicameral legislature.

"The rural population does not understand the problems which face the great centers," Corrigan declared. "No one can advance a logical reason for not reapportioning but there will be definite strong opposition."

All Endorse Proposal.

Thomas A. Lenehan, federation secretary; John H. Rohrich, of the Teamsters' district council; Mark A. Copeland, former president of the Cuyahoga County Tax league; Harry R. Hazel, of the Cleveland Teachers' union, and Elmer O. Fehlhaber, state secretary of Labor's Non-Partisan league, were among speakers indorsing the proposal.

Lenehan read letters of support from several organizations and one of opposition from the Ohio Farm Bureau federation, which said the plan would put the agricultural interests of the state under control of "concentrated voting power."

Rohrich denied labor wanted to do anything but help the farmer, adding:

"It's bewildering to those of us in labor to go to Columbus to seek something labor needs and to find the farmers' lobby lined up with the utilities. They're against us every time."

He also blamed rural members of the legislature for the inability of Cleveland to solve its relief problems.

Rivermen Await Movement of Ice Gorged On Ohio

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Rivermen watched today for miles of ice, gorged in places and stacked high in channels, to flow down the Ohio.

U. S. engineers said the ice was poised for a mass movement but there was no way of telling when it would start. That would depend on the weather.

The ice, softened by rains and warm weather, broke loose from its moorings at several points yesterday.

A floe surged from the Little Miami river at Cincinnati's eastern limits into the Ohio. A gorge near Dam 29 at Ashland, Ky., moved a short distance. Other movements of ice were reported above Wheeling, W. Va., and below Portsmouth.

Water from rains early this week was still causing the river to rise. But only a fraction of an inch an hour. The additional water was helping to dislodge the ice, rivermen observed.

Lack of rainfall during the past several months placed the Ohio at its lowest stage here since 1935.

New Finn-Russo Test Due In Senate, House

Up and Down THE STREET

No one is more interested in the boxing career of Melio Bettina of Beacon, N. Y., than Paul M. Eliot of the Farmers Savings and Trust company. Bettina, who defeated Fred Apostoli in one of the major boxing bouts of the year last week, served as Eliot's golf caddie on many occasions on trips to Beacon, Mrs. Eliot's former home. While one of his biggest boosters, Eliot saw his former caddie fight only once, and that was a year ago when on a business trip to New York City.

A White Leghorn hen at the Harry Hawley farm home, Shelby road, "done herself proud" this week when she laid an egg larger than a goose or turkey egg. It weighed a half pound and measured nine and a half inches by seven and an eighth—which is an unusual egg in any fowl's language, with the possible exception of an ostrich.

The Mansfield Service League, an organization for private and individualized charity, which is rapidly taking its place as one of the leading groups of the city, today sent out a plea for more good, second hand clothes. Among its most urgent needs are shoes of all kinds for men and children, sweaters for both boys and girls, bedding and a mattress, and stockings for all sizes of children. And of course there is always need for dresses for girls from 7 to 17. Mrs. R. R. Black, president, said she may be reached at Canal 1798.

When the Ohio Master Plumbers came to Mansfield this week and asked Mayor William J. Locke for the key to the city, the mayor began wondering how the key-giving custom originated so he went to the history books to find out. The custom, he found, started centuries ago when it was the practice of home-owners to give their friends keys to their houses to show that the friends were welcome to call anytime.

ILLS LISTED

Chickenpox Tops Roster of Communicable Diseases.

Of 120 cases of communicable diseases in Mansfield during January, the bane of childhood, chickenpox, topped the list, according to the January report of Health Commissioner R. C. Rehder.

There were 74 cases. This was a sharp drop under the 149 cases in January of last year. Scarlet fever with 16 cases and whooping cough with eight cases reported, were next on the list. Scarlet fever showed an increase over the preceding month when only nine cases were reported.

Other communicable diseases for the past month included three cases of mumps, four of measles, eight of pneumonia and three new cases of tuberculosis.

The report shows there were 54 deaths in the city in the past month. Birth reports are not completed until the 10th of the month.

AWARDED $500 BY MUNY JURY

Funeral Director Victor in First Jury Trial in City Court in Year.

In the first jury trial in municipal court in more than a year, a jury of four women and eight men late yesterday returned a verdict in favor of J. A. Geiger, Mansfield funeral director, in his suit to collect $500 from J. Thomas Kiley, former waterworks secretary.

Balloting unanimously in favor of the plaintiff, the verdict was returned at 5:45 p. m. after 23 minutes deliberation.

Geiger's counsel, Atty. George W. Biddle, argued that Kiley had contracted with the funeral director and had agreed to pay for the funeral of the defendant's mother, Mrs. Ellen Kiley, who died several years ago.

The plaintiff produced evidence consisting of book accounts and records and copies of vital statistics of the firm to show that he had rendered the services for which he testified Kiley had contracted.

Kiley denied that he had ever agreed to pay the amount alleged due. He testified that he told Geiger the estate of his mother would be responsible for payment.

The trial yesterday climaxed a series of petitions and motions filed in municipal court.

Following the filing of Geiger's suit to collect the amount, Kiley answered with a cross petition in which he sued the funeral director for slander and sought $1,000 damages. This was later withdrawn.

Kiley was represented by Atty. R. W. Lett of Ashland.

CARS COLLIDE, NOBODY HURT

Mt. Vernon Residents Escape Injury In Accident.

Three Mt. Vernon residents escaped injuries when the car in which they were riding overturned at 6:50 p. m. yesterday, one mile south of the city on route 13, as the result of a two car collision.

One car, driven by Miss Anna Simmons, 33, Mt. Vernon, overturned after it collided with an auto driven by E. Aungst, 47, of Bellville, highway patrolmen reported. Miss Simmons told patrolmen the lights of her car went out, making it impossible to see the oncoming car. Aungst also escaped injuries.

Riding with Miss Simmons were William and Ruth Davis, both of Mt. Vernon. They were uninjured.

RENEWS QUESTIONING OF TRIO IN HAMMER MURDER OF OHIOAN

BULLETIN

BELLEFONTAINE — (AP) — Prosecutor J. Ewing Smith today prepared first degree murder warrants against Mrs. Minnie Jenkins, 47, and 28-year-old Don Slater in the hammer slaying of the woman's husband a week ago.

(By United Press)

BELLEFONTAINE — Prosecuting Attorney J. Ewing Smith expected, through continued questioning of a woman and two youths today, to learn circumstances that led to the hammer slaying of Fred Jenkins, 56, a railroad telegrapher.

The prosecutor announced yesterday that he had a confession from Donald Slater, 18, a roomer at the Jenkins home, that he killed Jenkins. Mrs. Minnie Jenkins, 47, wife of Fred, and their only son, Merlin, 18, were held without formal charge during the investigation.

All three were taken into custody a few hours after Jenkins' body had been identified at Dayton. The body was found last Saturday in a gully near Miamisburg.

Smith said Slater told him that Jenkins had threatened members of the Jenkins family and Slater. The prosecutor expected to call the Logan county grand jury to consider the case, next week.

"I can't see how I can do anything else than file first degree murder charges against Slater," Smith said. "I have not proceeded far enough to say definitely what charges will be filed against either young Jenkins or Mrs. Jenkins."

The three were questioned in relays for 15 hours yesterday. The boys smiled and chatted together while waiting to be taken to the courthouse for questioning by Smith and Deputy Sheriff Paul Hannum. The boys were graduated from Huntsville high school last June. Jenkins attended Miami university the fall semester but dropped out.

Slater worked in a small restaurant operated by Mrs. Jenkins.

Slater told Smith that Jenkins grew more and more abusive to his family and to him when he returned from his work as an extra telegrapher in the Dayton area.

OUT FOR SENATE

Third Republican Enters 27th-29th District Contest.

The third Republican candidate entered the race today for the nomination of state senator in the 27th-29th district which includes Richland county.

W. W. Barnhill of Nankin, Ashland county, began circulating petitions for the nomination. Barnhill, an insurance man, is a member of the Ashland county board of education and the Nankin school board.

P. H. Rogers of Grafton, incumbent, and Joseph Jameson, Lorain, both Republicans, also will seek the nomination at the May primary.

Probate Judge C. J. Anderson, Mansfield, who has been mentioned frequently for the post, said today he had decided not to run. He held the office from 1928 to 1932.

Under a new set-up, the 27th-29th district, comprising Richland, Ashland, Medina, and Lorain counties, will elect two senators this year, instead of one.

RETURNS HOME

Beckley Back After Operation at Military Hospital.

Walter L. Beckley, manager of the Cities Service Oil company in the Mansfield district, returned home yesterday from Dayton Military hospital, where he underwent an operation several weeks ago.

Beckley, who is greatly improved, reports that J. Earl Ports, also of Mansfield, and like Beckley, a past commander of McVey Post, American Legion, is still in a bed ward but is slowly improving.

UPPER CHAMBER TAKES UP BILL FOR LOAN TODAY

House Members Seek Roll Call Vote on Plan to Eliminate Russian Embassy Fund.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Further tests of congressional sentiment toward Finland and Russia may come in the senate and house today.

House opponents of Soviet Russia seek a roll call vote on a proposal to eliminate from the 1941 state department appropriation bill funds for maintenance of the United States embassy in Moscow. Rep. John W. McCormack, (D., Mass.), who was defeated yesterday in an attempt to eliminate such funds by amendments, may try today to recommit the bill to committee with instructions to strike out the embassy money. Such a motion requires a roll call vote.

In the senate, a bill that would make possible a non-military loan to Finland will be brought up as soon as the independent offices appropriation bill is passed. Senate Democratic Leader Alben W. Barkley said he expected the senate to be ready for the Finnish bill by mid-afternoon.

Meanwhile, Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, (R., Mich.), proposed a direct loan to Finland of $5,891,291.77, which represents the amount Finland has paid in principal and interest on her war debt.

"This proposal would set no precedent in any way," Vandenberg said. "Finland has paid us and the logical thing to do is give her a reward for being a good debtor, and let her use the reward as she pleases."

But Republican and Democratic leaders predicted that the senate would pass the bill approved yesterday, 12 to 6, by the senate foreign relations committee. That would increase the export-import bank's revolving fund by $100,000,000, thus allowing that agency to grant Finland a non-military loan.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Pegler Doubts Wisdom Of Patriot's or Church 'Union Card' System

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—I have begun to doubt the wisdom of confronting every organization and all individuals with a disavowal of Communism and Fascism and saying, in a leering way, "Sign here." That practice encourages the loathsome patrioteer to drape the flag around him like a shawl and go around putting people on a spot who are better citizens than himself. It contains an insinuation that the organization or person in question is a doubtful case and that compliance is a sign of cowardice or refusal a sign of sedition.

Of course, every loyal American hates Communism and Fascism and, on proper occasions, takes the oath of allegiance with dignity and solemn feeling and is willing to take it again, as the officers of the military establishment and public officials do. Once sworn the oath would seem to be binding unto death, but for some reason it is thought to have a term and, like vaccination, to require renewal every now and again.

Still, people don't object if the circumstances are such as to justify the ceremony, as in obtaining a passport, enlisting or joining a patriotic organization.

But no man or woman should be required to stop dead in traffic and repeat the oath for anyone who takes it on himself to go on the prowl for traitors, and the same resentment occurs when, in a public gathering, some loud-mouthed fraud says, "We are now going to sing the Star-Spangled Banner, and any dirty traitor who doesn't get up will get such a going-over that he will never get up."

There is a time and place for everything, and, although patriotism is never really out of place, organizations and people have other business besides denouncing Communism and Fascism. Anyway Americans have a right to believe in Communism and Fascism. We can forbid actions but not beliefs, and we have laws and police to take care of situations in which persons who so believe—for the two beliefs are practically identical—attempt to overthrow the government by violence.

To me belief in these "isms" seems inconsistent with Americanism, but the constitution doesn't see it that way, and there is no profit in destroying the constitution just to beat someone else to it.

Nobody enjoyed more than I did the embarrassment of the Youth Congress last summer and the more recent confusion of the Students' Union when they were confronted with resolutions against Communism, but there are other ways of ascertaining where organizations and persons stand.

There is no law by which any group can be compelled to adopt any resolution, and none should be penalized for exercising its rights. If a group or individual is following a line, Communist or Fascist, that will become plain in time without our resorting to tricks.

Fortunately, in these cases the resolutions were introduced by members and were pertinent business, but it can easily be foreseen that the application of such tests can become a terrible nuisance if not a menace.

For here we have a violent, organized propaganda to the effect that all citizens who are not christians of the most conventional, church-going type—which also means, incidentally, the showering-down type or Kosher-keeping Jews — are necessarily atheists, and therefore enemy aliens.

Now, a man has a right to be an atheist, and he may be an atheist and a reactionary Republican at the same time. Or a man may be a christian in his own heart, according to his own interpretation of christianity but not a church-christian—and, in fact, an opponent of churches—and still be a loyal, law-abiding American. Or a Jew may abandon his religion and be a capitalist and a loyal citizen.

But if we come to the point of admitting that unbelief in religion or non-attendance at any church is proof of Communism and somehow punishable, we are on the way to an inquisition and the establishment of a religious racket under government sanction. In that case a man could be challenged on the street by any hot-eyed fanatic to declare his belief in religion and show his church credentials, paid up like a union card, and hauled around or jailed away as an enemy of the state for failure to affirm.

The right to be a christian is established and respected everywhere in the United States, but the right to be an atheist is equally important. The assumption that an atheist is a Communist and therefore a conspirator against the American nation is false. And it should be added that a patriotic atheist does a little more than his share as a citizen, in view of the fact that he pays taxes right along to carry the heavy load imposed on all the taxpayers, including infidels, by tax-exempt church properties.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—It's a pretty little place just off Hollywood's busiest corner—Hollywood and Vine.

There was a fellow there trying to make a comeback. Not spectacularly, but in a small way. A restaurant man he was, and making a good try to be one again. He didn't have an orchestra, and he didn't have once-a-week dance contest nights, and he didn't have lines of fans outside his doors waiting for movie stars' autographs. All he had was good food, and soft lights, and quiet—and a new cuff, because his old ones were all worn out with pencil marks representing free meals for hungry actors.

He used to have a way about handling that. He knew about actors. At his old Montmartre there was many a financially harassed one who came in, making an entrance befitting his professional rank, who didn't have the wherewithal to buy a piece of bread. The way Eddie did it, nobody in the place knew about that. The hungry who had been fed merely signed the check, with a fine flourish of independence, and made his exit—nobody the wiser, his poverty a secret between him and Eddie Brandstatter.

HOLLYWOOD remembered all that, with loans when Eddie needed them later. But Hollywood at large forgot something else—that the life-blood of a place like Eddie's new one is fairly consistent movie patronage. Eddie hoped they'd start dropping in A few of them did.

"Are they coming back, Eddie, those people you used to feed?" I asked him the other night.

"Sure," said Eddie, a little guy with a heart. "They're coming—the word's spreading around that I'm here. They'll all be back."

I think now he must have been whistling in the dark. A couple of days later Eddie was in the papers—principal actor in a drama set in a dark garage, in a closed car with a hose leading from the exhaust. Eddie has put his future on the cuff.

THE pretty little place off Hollywood-and-Vine is a place you pass going from parking lots to previews around the corner. The big stars are usually driven up to the theater foyer in state, and the chauffeurs do the parking. The chauffeurs call again, a couple of hours later, when the foyer loudspeaker summons Miss Gorgeous' car, please, or Mr. Glamboy's car, please hurry, or Mr. Bloopenstoop's car, please.

And after the show is over the stars and the big shots meet for nightcaps or knickknacks or midnight tiffin, and a dance or two, at one of the glittery spots where everybody who is anybody is meeting these days. They used to meet like that at Eddie's Montmartre, when everybody who was anybody went to the "Mo'mart" and nowhere else. That was Eddie's day, and maybe there were too many new faces around town in this newer day.

It doesn't add up to anything much, unless it's a thought that walking, even so short a distance as from parking lot to theater, can be a good, eye-opening thing.

A western Indian chief thinks he has a claim of a billion dollars against the government—and it ought to be easy to shift that around into a pension plan of some sort.

Invention Day Honors Edison

EMPHASIS which has for many years been placed on the birthday anniversary of Abraham Lincoln has tended to overshadow the birthdate of a prominent American a day earlier—Thomas A. Edison, product of the neighboring town of Milan.

Within recent years, however, observance of National Invention day has served to concentrate public attention on February 11 and to give annual recognition to the achievements of Edison.

The United States has long held place as the most inventive nation in the world, and Edison was not only our most prolific inventor of new devices and methods, but probably the greatest inventor in human history.

There have been many other men who invented one or two new things of great value to mankind, but Edison produced scores of important devices based on new principles, and his useful contributions to human progress and comfort ran into the hundreds. His example has brought an ever-widening stream of new ideas and products.

One city mayor, urging adequate celebration of the day, speaks of "the debt we owe to the courageous and creative spirit of our inventors." It always takes courage to branch out in new directions and undertake things that people say cannot be done. But success turns the laugh on the scoffers.

The incident is recalled that more than a hundred years ago one inventor became so discouraged that he killed himself because he thought there was nothing left to invent.

Any assumption that there is no longer a field for inventive genius would be almost as ridiculous—there are probably more opportunities in this field today than ever before—and the rewards may be greater. But those looking for an easy job, with short hours, will do well to choose some other line of work.

Week-End of Bargains In Many Stores

DEVELOPMENT of Mansfield as a shopping center for this entire northcentral Ohio area is clearly evidenced by the increasing response to the very general invitation to patronize the Community Bargain days, which have been conducted semi-annually for the past thirteen years.

Mansfield's growth in recent years has been reflected in the constant improvement of retail merchandising facilities and in the variety and completeness of stocks shown by Mansfield stores.

A steadily increasing number of Mansfield city and suburban residents are realizing the advantages of patronizing local merchants, whenever possible, and buying in Mansfield stores has become habitual with many thousands of people living in Richland and adjoining counties.

Friday and Saturday of this week have been designated as the first of the 1940 Community Bargain days, sponsored by the Retail Merchants association, and the advertising messages of participating merchants which appear in today's News-Journal give an idea of the attractive merchandise that will be available at exceptionally low prices during these two days.

Whether living in Mansfield or immediate vicinity—or elsewhere within a forty-mile area—shopping in Mansfield stores on these Community Bargain days will be well worth while.

Days-Off Ordinance Needs Study

DECISION of Mayor Locke to take time to study council's ordinance which would make a change in "days off" for men in the police department appears entirely proper.

As chief executive of the city the mayor has final authority over the police department, although this is ordinarily delegated to the safety director and by him to the chief of police.

Unless for convenience in assignment to duties, it is not easy to understand why the "days off" arrangement should be either one-in-eight, as heretofore, or one-in-six, as provided in the new ordinance, rather than the more customary one-in-seven (a day a week), or two-in-seven, which would make a working week of 40 hours.

Assuming, as is claimed by Chief of Police Bates, that the police department is considerably undermanned and that additional patrolmen are essential, even under the old arrangement of days off, it is quite obvious that a reduction in working time of men now employed will make it necessary to immediately employ more men in the department and it is quite proper that Mayor Locke and Chief Bates should insist that council make this a part of the change proposed in the ordinance passed by council and to which thought is now being given by the mayor.

Changing a Town's Habit

THE TWO THOUSAND residents of Mount Carroll, Ill., have courageously met a great crisis in their living habits. For years they depended on a steam whistle at a local college to waken them in the morning. The whistle was blown at 7 a. m. as a rising signal for students. But it could be heard throughout the town and awakened for their day's work many people who had no connection with the educational institution.

Times change and rules have been relaxed at the college. Students do not have to rise so early, and they do not all have to rise at the same time. So it was ordered that the whistle be blown no more.

There was a rush for alarm clocks at local stores and life went on as usual. It shows that it isn't easy to undermine American self-reliance and ingenuity.

Fear Extinction of Frogs

SPORTSMEN . . . of Ohio have been urging the state commission of conservation and natural resources to limit the killing of bull frogs. The latter are said to be in danger of extinction. Protection for them is sought because they destroy insects and are an important source of food.

The preservation of a supply of frog-legs would be in itself a good enough reason for safeguarding this type of game.

"So She Wouldn't Be Mauled."

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

IT'S MANY A DAY since anyone handed Hollywood such a surprise as did little Jane Bryan when she eloped with Justin Dart.

A quiet, sweet-faced youngster, she didn't raise much of a rumpus at first. While the regular Glamor Girls were throwing their tantrums in the bright lights, Janey was plugging along, playing her bit parts with simple, unstrained efficiency—a bit better each time. Rung by rung she climbed the ladder. A score of lesser roles then amazingly, before anyone suspected it, she was on top! Starring with Paul Muni in "We Are Not Alone." With the whole world sitting up and asking questions.

Janey and the great Muni! Where had she been all this time? And where would she be going now, with the star-dust in her eyes and the producers' good, red gold piled behind her back! "Astounding! Incredible! Tree-ee-mendous!" shrieked the dope sheets. "The Duse of tomorrow! Watch her smoke!"

But for once the dope sheets were wrong. Janey wasn't leaving any smoke to watch.. As quietly as she'd made her way to the top-rung stardom that seemed all desirable, so quietly she now turned her back on it all and went to Love. Left all the rest of it behind her — the Hollywood hooey and hoopla, ballyhoo and baloney —and slipped away to Chicago to be a regular wife to a regular man and mother to his two little tykes.

"But it can't be!" everyone shrieked. "She doesn't really mean it. It's just another publicity stunt!"

But it could be . . . and it was. For once, something real had happened in Hollywood, something honest and tender and right. Her dad summed it up — better, perhaps, than he knew — when the Press Boys came a-clamoring.

"You're wrong, fellows; 'tisn't an act," said he, in the face of their disbelieving grins. "Jane knows what she's doing. She's given it all up—the ambition and everything—for a real joy and a real love. Some people might look at such things differently. But Jane's not commercial. There's no phooey about that youngster. Whatever she does, she means. That's why she planned it all so quietly—went away without anyone knowing—so she wouldn't be mauled all over the crowds. Just be herself—plain Mrs. Dart . . . she and her husband, private citizens.

"So she wouldn't be mauled" . . . I like that phrase. It's the medicine for what ails most of us. I'm not saying that it's better for a woman to marry or become a movie star. That depends. I suspect, on the woman. We haven't all the same vocation. But, whatever our vocation, there's one thing that's true of us all. If we wish to make anything truly great of ourselves, or get anything truly fine out of life, we must "keep ourselves from being mauled."

For there's more to life than the noise and glitter and the grip of power. There's a "still, small Voice" speaking—for those who are silent enough to hear. There are "everlasting Arms" reaching —for those who are sensitive enough to feel. There are Beauty and Peace, Dignity and Wisdom for those who have the courage to walk apart from the rabble and the rumpus—for those who refuse to be mauled.

WE KNEW HOW TO WALK APART, ONCE. WE KNEW HOW TO LIVE SIMPLY, SERENELY—REPOSING WITHIN OURSELVES. WE NEED, SO DESPERATELY, TO FIND THAT WAY OF LIFE AGAIN . . . AWAY FROM THE GLARE AND THE UPROAR . . . BACK TO THE QUIET, WITH GOD.

In paralysis of one side of the face, which comes on in recurrent attacks, due to heredity? Has cold anything to do with it?

The actual cause of recurrent paralysis of the facial nerve (not due to ear disease) is unknown. Certain people are subject to it, but heredity plays no part. Cold very probably does play a part. It is often called rheumatic but this means little or nothing. The use of anti-rheumatic remedies and iodide of potash, along with electrical treatment of the nerve, are the best treatments but, and this is comforting for victims to know, time cures all these attacks.

Timely Editorial

The Superior Race.

Archbishop Joseph Schrembs of Cleveland said one simple sentence recently which, if comprehended, could end all bigotry and racial hatreds. At a roundtable conference of Christians and Jews, the archbishop remarked that there is only one superior race — the human race.

The truth of that expression, if put into action, would end all the ideological battling in Europe and all the rabble rousing in America. Human excellence has nothing to do with racial traits or political boundaries.

If people generally throughout the world recognized that point as clearly as Archbishop Schrembs does, the strife and slaughter of this grim and gory old world would be ended by the simple but revolutionary process of clear thinking.—Toledo Blade.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—It does seem at times that New York isn't very polite to its visitors from Hollywood, especially when they are guys who are supposed to be engaged to Garbo. They slip into town quietly, and although they do their best to hide away in lonely places, such as at nightclubs and theatrical premieres, their lives are made miserable by people who pop from behind secret doors and demand interviews.

As a case in point let us examine the sad story of Mr. Gaylord Hauser, the Hollywood vegetable juice prophet. Mr. Hauser is the lucky young man this season. Last season it was Stowkowski, remember? And before that it was Mamoulian, the scholarly young director. Many fascinating stories preceded Mr. Hauser to our town, telling of his experiments with the juices of the turnip, the carrot and the tomato, and remarking also that he, and none other, was the man who would lead Miss Garbo to the altar. Mr. Gaylord Hauser did not say this himself; at least not to me. Nevertheless, that is the set-up as we pry into his story.

THIS Gaylord Hauser arrived in New York just before, or just after, or simultaneously with (the records aren't very clear on this point) Miss Garbo, and wishing naturally to be alone and away from the curiosity of the herd, he took her to supper at Twenty-One, which, in a genteel sort of way, is like having a barbecue at high noon in Macy's front window. There he encountered a select mob of actors, writers, producers, publishers, and other ne'er-do-wells. There too he and Miss Garbo made free with a fine meal which advanced all the way to the salad stage before trouble, in the guise of a veteran Broadway reporter, presented himself.

"I vant to talk to Garbo."

Mr. Hauser heaved himself to his feet. "Can't you see," he said coldly, "that Miss Garbo is in a highly nervous state!"

Now this was a libel against a fine, sturdy girl. Miss Garbo is far from nervous. Besides, she enjoys crowds, even if her escorts do not. If crowds upset her she wouldn't have dinner at the Rainbow Room, which is something like the main waiting room at Pennsylvania Station. Nor would she lunch at Rumpelmeyers, which is also like lunching in Times Square. She does have, I believe, a very genuine contempt for those who invade her privacy for no legitimate reason, as she should have. After all, only a sap wants to force his hello on someone else, even if that someone gives him a low, throaty "hullo" in return.

BUT back to Mr. Hauser. What is there to it that he and Garbo will wed? That is anybody's guess. My own is that if they ever do see the altar they will see it separately. I seem to remember too many other swains of other years. . . . I seem to remember a bitter winter's day, with the great Stowkowski, alone and dejected, gazing gloomily toward a certain ship in the harbor. Miss Garbo was aboard that ship, secluded in her stateroom, having lunch with Bob Reud, of Hickory, N. C., and New York.

She had lunch with this same Mr. Reud the day after her supper with Mr. Gaylord Hauser at Twenty-One was ruined, and unless the waitress who served her is lying, Miss Garbo isn't very faithful to Mr. Hauser's vegetable juice diet. She began her repast with a simple order to prosciutto, which is Italian ham and melon. Then she ate a French lamb chop over which lay a curl of bacon. There was a side dish of broccoli, and I hope there was juice in it. This was followed by allumette potatoes. Then she disposed of a chiffonade salad, and topped this off with a rousing cherry jubilee, which is ice cream smothered in pitted, black cherries that have been flamed in burning brandy. She had coffee.

It's none of my business, but if I were Mr. Gaylord Hauser and wanted to live by own life, I'd take Miss Garbo to some nice, quiet Broadway sidewalk cafe, where I could be alone.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Don't be surprised if the searching of American ships by the British brings on searching of British ships by the Americans.

Pro-British as our state department usually is, it has just about decided that the best way of dealing with British delays of American shipping is to adopt the same tactics.

What has brought the thing to a head is the belief that the British are holding up American ships at Gibraltar in order to favor the Italians. In other words, foreign shippers are discovering that Italian vessels get by British inspectors far more quickly, and are switching their trade from American to Italian bottoms.

Result: British ships entering New York harbor now may be held up for a week or more of U. S. inspection.

American laws, the British should remember, are very strict about hiding arms on foreign vessels. Furthermore, the usual lifeboat inspection, together with the testing of bulkhead doors, etc., may take either a few hours or a few days, depending upon the inspector.

The United States held up the SS Bremen for a couple of days of inspection, admittedly to help the British. So there is no reason why such inspection could not be used to help the U. S.

Finally, the United States can throw various delays in the way of delivery of American airplanes to the British. The length of these delays will depend chiefly upon the delays to American vessels which pass Gibraltar en route to the Mediterranean.

FDR, Jr.

ANOTHER unrecorded sidelight of the movie star-studded President's Birthday Ball was a spirited debate between Franklin Roosevelt, jr., and Tyrone Power on the merits of wearing "pink coats" on fox hunts.

Young Roosevelt, who lives in the fox-and-hounds country at Charlottesville, Virginia, took the negative side, and spent the better part of his mother's luncheon for the visiting screen celebrities trying to tear down Power's arguments.

The film star couldn't understand why in a place like Virginia, which sets such stores by tradition, the horsey set almost had dispensed with the wearing of the traditional bright pink jackets.

"I hear you wear them only twice a year," he observed, "Thanksgiving and New Year's. Why is that?"

"Well, personally I think they're something of a nuisance explained young Roosevelt. "Besides, they scare the cattle and farmers wouldn't let us ride over their land if we wore them all the time."

Finland's Waist.

PRESS cables from Finland, always carefully censored, stress fighting along the Karelian front. This is the narrow peninsula between Lake Ladoga and the Gulf of Finland, very close to Leningrad, where the Mannerheim Line has held back the Russian attack.

However, the censors have said almost nothing recently about the tremendous Russian thrust against the "waist" of Finland. This is the long border of Finland and Russia which stretches north toward the Arctic.

Here, it is reported, Russia is massing large numbers of trained troops in an effort to break through into the heart of Finland. Since Finland is narrow, Soviet strategy is to cut the country in two. With part of the Finnish army kept busy in Karelia, it will be difficult for the Finns to resist this new drive.

This massing movement was the inside reason for Finland's recent suggestion for an honorable peace. Despite all the gay U. S. parties for promoting Finnish relief, very little in actual war supplies has been received by Finland. Her situation is desperate.

Liberal Conference.

THE much-ballyhooed conference of Western Liberals will not take place. It was killed at an Inner Circle meeting which included Harold Ickes, Tom Corcoran, Ben Cohen, Assistant Secretary of Labor Dimock, Assistant Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman, and Director of Government Reports Lowell Mellett.

They decided that if any Liberal conference was to be held, it should be held for the entire U. S. A., not merely the West. But the Inner Circle also decided that it was probably best not to put the liberals out on the firing line by holding a conference of any kind.

Vanquished Poland is still paying service charges on a credit of more than $3,000,000 extended a year ago by U. S. Export-Import Bank. . . . Of the Bank's $25,000,000 credit to China made a year ago, only 16 millions have been disbursed. . . . Senator Claude Pepper of Florida has three live alligators in his office. . . . Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

List of Heroes.

These are heroic, these who fight
A battle hand to hand
With poverty, respect they must
On every side command.

For want and lack are enemies
As fierce as hungry beasts,
And cowardice upon the fears
Of any fighter feasts.

Heroic is the war that's waged
By any one alone
Against such odds for he will give
His sinew and his bone.

You ask me then to name for you
The heroes? Well, I say
I give you these, the men who fight
With poverty each day.

The Strawstack

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

LATE last summer I watched my neighbor round out his new strawstack, which occupied a large share of the space in the center of his barnyard. The farmer, that day, looked like a pigmy in wide straw hat and red bandana, high above the eaves of his barn roof.

That evening I saw his 20 cattle enter the enclosure, where the monstrous stack stood with loose, fluffy sides and a litter of windblown chaff. The flies were bad and clung ravenously to the animals' sleek short hair and about the shoulder points and backs. The animal in turn lowered its head and made a dash for the tempting straw, moving rapidly around the base of the stack until in one short hour a deep hollow race was made, encircling the stack completely. Two weeks afterward, passing by again, I saw that the great pile of straw had settled to less than two-thirds its former size.

When winter came and stock was herded from the pasture, it took more straw for bedding. Every evening my neighbor drew, with a long-handled fork like hook, straw from the sides and with a heavier fork carried great bulky loads of it into the stables. Within their stalls the horses stood knee deep in clean fragrant beds of straw, while young cattle browsed about and thrust their heads deep into the well-packed base of the stack in search of a more tasty morsel.

The red pigs grunted contentedly and lay close together, almost concealed, at the eastern side. During cold winter evenings sparrows sheltered themselves in deep holes about the smooth flanks. Here hundreds of them spent comfortable zero nights.

About this same time the farmer's old chaff tick became too thin and smooth for comfort during long sleeping hours. It was a sight to see the old straw sifted out through a hole at the end, and the huge tick refilled with clean, new straw, until it stood six feet in height and half as thick round, full, and tightly drawn. One man, carrying this bag of straw upon his shoulders from barn to house, appeared like an Atlas with his burden.

By the first of April this great pile will have dwindled to a mere heap. Practically all of it will have been worked through the stables with added comfort and cleanliness to the stock in winter quarters. Then there is the rich covering of manure which my neighbor will spread upon the snowy meadows, to make a finer crop of corn, potatoes, wheat or clover.

Straw is one of the farm's important crops and should never be taken from the premises. When wisely used it adds materially to the farmer's bank account.

AIDS PARAGUAY ROAD BUILDING WITH DISCOUNT

Export-Import Bank Will Take Notes of Republic in U. S. Purchases.

WASHINGTON -- In a further move to expand the foreign trade of the United States and at the same time strengthen the economy of Latin-American nations, the Export-Import Bank of Washington has concluded arrangements with R. W. Hebard & Co., Inc., a New York City engineering firm, to discount notes which the Republic of Paraguay will issue in payment for highway construction.

$3,000,000 Estimated Cost.

The cost of the Paraguayan Government's highway construction program has been estimated by Paraguayan officials at $3,000,000.

Under its contract with the Hebard firm, the Paraguayan Government has agreed that all foreign materials and equipment required for its program will be purchased in the United States and transported in American-flag vessels.

The credit facilities extended by the Export-Import Bank in furtherance of this program are in line with an agreement reached this summer to co-operate with Paraguay and with American manufacturers in financing purchases of equipment, materials and services for developing projects designed to increase the productive capacity of Paraguay and its trade with the United States.

"The GOOD OLD DAYS"

...DID NOT APPLY TO GAS SERVICE

True, gas was cheaper in the "good old days" but, also, certainly the service was cheaper. Gas then was an unwanted by-product of the oil industry. Pressures varied and often the supply failed. Appliances were crude affairs judged by today's standards. Modern gas service is dependable. Pressures are even and quality of gas is standardized. This kind of gas service is worth more, but even at the national average rate of 74 cents per 1000 cubic feet, it still does its work for less than other fuels. YOUR GAS CENT IS WELL SPENT.

LUNCHEON, PROGRAM GIVEN BY NOMAD CLUB

Mrs. A. W. Meihack Introduces Series on Spokesmen of Modern Women; Luncheon Served to Members, Guests.

LUNCHEON was served to members and five guests of the Nomad club yesterday when Mrs. Mary B. Gilbert entertained at the Women's Club. The guests were Mrs. Charles Brown, Mrs. George Mead, Mrs. Ralph Stanton, Mrs. Frank Black and Mrs. H. H. Schettler.

The program, which was presented by Mrs. Albert W. Meihack, was the first of the series of discussion of the program division "Spokesmen of Modern Women." Mrs. Meihack selected Amy Lowell for her topic. She told of the eccentricity of the New England poet, critic and biographer, who did much to aid and influence younger writers.

Miss Lowell, a member of the famous Boston Lowell family, belonged to the imagist school which believed in detailed and colorful writing. Her poetry was a type of free verse. She was noted in her time as a talented critic and brilliant conversationalist.

Final plans were made for the next meeting of the club. Mrs. Osborne Meese will entertain at luncheon at the club house Feb. 11. The meeting has been called for 11 a. m. with Mrs. Paul Spencer giving the paper.

Too Casual About Clothes Fit

By MME. QUI VIVE

Women are much too casual these days about the fit of the gown. Past generations of women had clothes made to order, even their coats, and they were educated in lines. Fussy about the way a sleeve was set in. They knew exactly how wide the bodice should be in the back across the shoulders. The length of the sleeve was important; it was made to cover the little bone bump at the wrist.

Now that most of us fly into shops, try on a pretty dud, drag it home and wear it that very night, we aren't always heedful of the details of the purchase. If the fabric is pretty and colors becoming that's all that seems necessary. The truth is that a robe should not be in the least bit too large or too small. Sleeves should fit neatly at the wrist, the belt be correctly placed. A common defect is the skirt that is too tight at the hips, disclosing the contour of the rear part of the torso.

All too other clothes are out of character. The heavyweight who looks best in dark attire and long, simple lines, slips herself into fussy, ruffled toggery that adds to bulk and is entirely unsuitable. She can't wear tightly fitting garments because they are revealing, but when she adds a bustle bow, a peplum or a bertha she increases the appearance of excessive displacement.

There are young girls who have a passion for wearing hats that their grandmothers would consider too old looking for their respected grey heads. And we have all observed the aged kittenish lady who cuts her skirts too short, revealing skinny or fatted legs that should be concealed behind friendly draperies.

There is the tall woman who adores tall hats, and the short plump ducky who insists upon wearing a muffin lid coquettishly tied under her chin, which turns her into a caricature.

Here is a new leftover tip: Shape hash into ½ inch cakes, press with a spoon, arrange on a heated platter and cover with hot leftover gravy with chili sauce in it—1 tablespoon of chili sauce for each ½ cup of gravy.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

There was such unconscious distaste in Mary's voice that I laughed aloud.

"Such devotion!" I scoffed. "But I don't think you need to worry about it. Olina's mother is strictly 'on the job,' as you would put it, and Olina is—"

"Walking a straight line, balancing a weight on each outstretched hand." Mary finished mischievously. "Well! I don't wish her any harm, you understand, but you won't see me shedding any tears if Queen Olga makes those balancing weights 50 pounds each."

"Mary! Mary!" I expostulated, laughing. "What a blood-thirsty little wretch you are! What you need is work to get that venom out of your system. Come now and read these lines over to yourself, yours and Olina's, and then I'll try to read yours back as nearly like the stilted fashion your father-in-law has employed as I can manage."

"You can manage all right," Mary said fondly. "You're the 'beatenest' mimic anywhere in the land. I can do a fair job of mimicking myself, but I wouldn't dare tackle this without your coaching. But let me have the paper, and I'll see what it's all about before we start working."

"You've done it again, darling!" she said. "You'd think that role had been planned from the beginning. Now what do you want me to do?"

"Listen carefully," I replied, "while I read them over and over until you have the sound of them fixed in your mind. When you think you have them, let me know, and I'll listen while you repeat them back to me. Then we'll go into the drill, and when I think your rendition is good enough to pass your father-in-law's trained ears, I'll go over to Olina and put her through her paces. Then I'll take you together."

I had read them seven times before Mary relaxed from the tense concentration with which she was following my rendition.

"I think I have them now," she said. "Will you prentend to be Olina and read her lines while I answer with mine? And be sure you swat me good if I fall down."

"I'll do worse than that," I said, smiling. "I'll make you practice each fault intonation fifty times."

"If you detect one," she said saucily, wrinkling her nose at me. But when I had cued her and listened to her lines, I realized that her boast was justified.

"Perfect!" I accoladed, and she gave a sigh of relief.

"I'm so glad!" she said. "I'd hate to fall on my nose so near the end of the road. But, oh, Auntie Madge! what do you suppose will happen tomorrow?"

"Nothing to worry you, I'm sure," I told her stoutly, burying my own fears deep beneath the protest. "Remember. I'm going to be with you every step of the way, and when I think it's necessary, I shall spring the other rendition, the one we've worked out. When Philip Veritzen hears you give that, I'll stake everything I own on his keeping you in the role. But we must be on our toes every second beforehand, to seize the right moment for our surprise."

"I hope you are right," she said with a note of doubt in her voice, which I made no effort to remove.

"That's something only tomorrow will tell," I told her. "Now don't look at those lines again until I come back with Olina. You're perfect, so don't overtrain. Read, rest, do anything you wish until I come back."

"I think I'll just sit," she quoted, and I left her looking out of the window as I went back to Olina's room.

THEATERS

THOMAS MOTT OSBORNE, former warden of Sing Sing prison, will be glorified in a picture drama on his life. There is plenty of material too, for Osborne was born a millionaire, who took up humanitarian work after the death of his wife. He became a prisoner in the big prison in order to learn about the graft and corruption there before he took office. His fight to clean up conditions made penal history. Of course Spencer Tracy can't do everything, but he's be perfect for the role of Osborne. M-G-M will make the picture.

Reckless Plot.

A plot to destroy the Panama Canal and trap the fleet in the wrecked locks is the challenge that faces Charlie Chan in the latest of the Earl Derr Bigger mystery dramas. Handsome Kane Richmond and Jean Rogers are seen in support of Sidney Toler, who again plays the Chinese detective. "Charlie Chan In Panama" will be shown for tomorrow only at the Madison theater.

In Sea Role.

Douglas Fairbanks seems at home in his role of the young first mate of a sailing vessel in "Rulers Of The Sea," a romantic tale of the invention of the steamship and the first trip made across the Atlantic by steam. The inventor of the steam engine and the young mate meet with many discouragements before the Dog Star sails from port in competition with a bigger ship. The film remains at the Ohio through Friday.

Bright Boys in Real Life.

Freddie Bartholomew and Jackie Cooper are co-starred in "Two Bright Boys," at the Ritz for the last two days of the week. These two juvenile players have been together before and are well teamed. The action takes place in the oil country of Texas, where young Cooper attempts to carry on his father's work after the latter's death. The second feature is John Mack Brown in "Oklahoma Frontier."

Interest In Title.

"Main Street Miracle" is the interesting title of the Columbia picture which features Margo, former stage dancer and wife of Screen Player Francis Lederer. It is an unusual story of a child found in a church on Christmas eve by a carnival dancer. The baby changes the lives of several people. Walter Abel, Wynne Gibson and Lyle Talbot are in the cast. Roy Rogers and Mary Hart are seen in "Southward Ho," also at the Park.

Line-Up Of Beauty.

A line up of feminine pulchritude is one of the main attractions of "Convicted Woman," which the Majestic offers Friday and Saturday. In the cast are Frieda Inescort, Rochelle Hudson, June Lang, Lola Lane, Iris Meredith, Lorna Gray and Linda Waters. Glen Ford plays the only male role in the story, which revolves around a woman's prison. Miss Meredith is also in "Taming of The West," which is on the same bill.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

THERE MAY BE A WAY

No matter how absurd may seem the contract into which you or your partner may have bid the side, your job is to try to make it anyway. Careful observation of developments may disclose something pecular about the location of the hostile cards, or something unusual about the order of events, which offers you a line of successful play. Great cardsmen perform some of their most spectacular feats in such crisis.

South, who knew North as ultra-conservative, opened this duplicate deal with 1-No Trump. West bid 2-Clubs, North 2-No Trumps, East 3-Hearts, West 3-Spades, and when this was passed to South he essayed 3-No Trumps, which West doubled. West took two high clubs, switched to hearts, in which East took two tricks, and East then led his spade 8.

"Glory be!" exclaimed South, who saw a chance to make the contract by a squeeze. He came up with the spade A, ran four diamonds and re-entered his own hand with the heaert Q. That put the pinchers on West. He had discarded down to the spade K and the J-9-8 of clubs. Throwing a club would have enabled South to take the marked finesse of the 10 and thus finish with three club tricks. So West discarded his spade K, hoping East had the 9. But South had it, cashed it, then took the last two tricks by means of the club finesee.

MORE DIVORCES IN BRITAIN

LONDON —(U.P.)— There were 4,000 more divorce petitions before the courts in 1938—the year of the new Divorce Act—than in 1937. The total was 10,350, a jump of 70 per cent over the previous year. The act provided that desertion, cruelty and lunacy were sufficient for divorce.

PUPILS CARRY WATER

EMPORIA, Kan. —(U.P.)— Rural children still carry lunch boxes to school as they have always done, but recently they have had to carry water bottles as well. The trouble was the drouth caused many shallow wells on country school grounds to dry up and teachers were forced to ask the children to bring their own drinking water.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, Feb. 9.

A PROMISING and pleasant day, with lively and lucrative conditions in all phases of living, is forecast from interesting lunar transits and mutual aspects. The mind is under very progressive but profound and sober urges, making for definite accomplishment in the direction of fulfilled ambitions. Social, emotional and affectional qualities are also under deep and stabilizing impetus, which may tend to promote social or romantic enterprise.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of progress and profit, largely through the exercise of a shrewd, astute and profound state of mind. This may inspire constructive ambitions which are likely to attract cooperation from influential sources. However, the social, sentimental and festive proclivities are likely to accent some very happy and important experiences.

A child born on this day, while keenly intellectual, studious, hard-working and dependable, may have strong social and congenial proclivities, combining to make a successful and happy life.

NEW TECHNIQUE.

A change in bedmaking technique often will help to solve sleeping problems. Bedclothes which are too tightly tucked in will interfere with the free movement of the sleeper and thus cause wakefulness. Most bedmaking authorities agree that the top sheet and blanket should be firmly tucked in at the bottom of the bed, but that they should be left hanging free at the sides. Most important, however, is that the bedclothes are used over a good spring and mattress.

80 TRY OUT FOR MUSICAL SHOW

Auditions Continue for Park Association's Production; Need 50 More for Cast.

More than 80 Mansfield people have been given auditions for the amateur show, "Rollin' Rythm," which the Parks association will present Feb. 22 and 23 at Senior High school auditorium.

At least 50 more will be needed before the whole show is cast Larry M. Knowles, director for the Rogers Producing company, who will stage the show in Mansfield, said.

Rehearsals will be held nightly Knowles said, with various acts rehearsed separately and big show assembled a few nights before production.

The theme of the musical is a bus tour which makes various stops, with entertainment at each stop. It gets under way in a bus terminal and the stops include a lunch room, Leavenworth, Kan., where there is a prison skit, Niagara Falls for the honeymooners, the hills of Arkansas where the tourists are entertained by a hillbilly band, and several others.

The second part of the show carries out the theme by having the bus go "Over the Border," where tourists run into a Mexican minstrel show.

The Rogers company will furnish the scenery and costumes as well as music. Tickets for the show are being sold by members of the Parks association and at the Tawse pharmacy.

GIRL AT THE FRONT + + + + +

By ROB EDEN

CHAPTER XX.

"So that's what you did?"

"Yes. I hated to hit Albert, but he knew what I had to do and begged me to hit him hard enough to knock him senseless. Otherwise he would be summarily shot, he said. So when I swung suddenly on him, I gave him a good one. I hope he wasn't badly hurt."

He paused for a moment while his hand stroked Claire's brown hair.

"Erle was waiting outside the wall for me and hustled me into a car and we sped away. The uniform was in the car, and while he drove around I got out of my clothes and put it on. Then I ad justed the bandage on my foot, and took the crutches he gave me. When we reached the alleyway here near the apartment, he let me out and I waited in the shadows until he took the car several blocks away and came back for me. I had no idea where he was taking me—and I almost fell over when I saw you rushing out of that room, dear."

Frau Weber interrupted them and insisted that they go into the hideout.

"I have a strange feeling," she said, "that all of us are in great danger."

Cameron got to his feet and, with Claire leading the way, went into the small room. The girl slid the panel shut after them.

Frau Weber's intuition proved only partly accurate, and although the buzzer sounded shortly after Claire and Cameron had retired to the hideout, the visitor proved to be one of the counter-espionage agents who was helping in the work.

Claire and Bill crouched in the secret room, fearful that it might be George Roland or some member of the Gestapo who might have trailed Cameron to the flat, and their feelings were not relieved by the fact that they could not hear what was said. The conversation was carried on in such low tones that they could hear only the voices.

Both were greatly relieved when after nearly half an hour Frau Weber called out that they might leave their hiding place

"It was one of our men," she explained. "He says the Gestapo is in a terrible uproar over Herr Cameron's escape and is making a thorough search of the city."

"Did they blame my guard—did they blame Albert?" Cameron inquired.

"He didn't know, but you may be sure some heads will fall for this. That is the way they always act when some of their plans go wrong—snatch at the first persons they find and line them up against a wall before a firing squad."

Claire shuddered, and Cameron's arm stole around reassuringly.

"I don't think there is any danger tonight," Frau Weber went on. "It will take them a long time to suspect me, as I've been very careful. I think, though, that Herr Cameron should sleep in the little room tonight. Fraulein, you may have my room again as you did last night, leaving the panel open for a quick disappearance."

"It sounds like the safest thing," Cameron agreed. "Did your men have any information about when a plane would arrive?"

"Not yet. It is too soon. Word has to be got to Paris, first. It may take a day, maybe several days. We must be patient."

Their sleep undisturbed that night by any further alarms, both Claire and Cameron were greatly refreshed the next morning. Frau Weber left before they were awake to make an early report to the factory that Lili was ill and could not go to work that day. She and her daughter had talked it over the previous night and decided that one of them should spend the day in the flat with the two Americans. If Frau Weber were absent from her shop, she might miss an important message, so it was Lili who volunteered to brave the wrath of her foreman by feigning illness.

During breakfast, Cameron questioned her on the methods used to get word to the agents with whom they worked in France.

"I don't know exactly myself," she answered, "except that an American radio man here is the go-between. He is permitted to broadcast on the short wave daily—his material being closely censored, of course."

"Then how is it managed?" Cameron inquired, curiously.

"By a code. The broadcaster himself, I understand, doesn't entirely know the system. His material is arranged for him by one of our friends. There are certain key words which indicate when a message is coming through, and then the message itself is sent a certain sequence of the following sentences. The second or third or maybe fifth word of each sentence or certain sentences conveys information. In Paris, the entire broadcast is taken down of course and then decoded. It's quite complicated, but it seems to work."

"The man who arranges the material here must be a wizard," Cameron commented, "because he has to work very fast."

Lili smiled.

"You'd be surprised if you knew who he really is—and so would the Nazis. He is one of the most trusted men in the censor's office—but he's entirely out of sympathy with Herr Hitler and his aims."

The American diplomatic agent glanced about the flat.

"You have no radio, have you?"

"Few Germans have these days. They might be tempted to listen to other than official broadcasts and to be caught at that means at best a concentration camp."

"That is the strength and at the same time the weakness of all dictators," Cameron commented. "They fear free discussion and forbid it, but there is nothing truer than the old saying that the truth will out. And when that happens, it means trouble for a dictator."

"Mother has a radio in the shop," Lili went on. "When official broadcasts are announced in the papers, she turns it on for the benefit of the neighbors and customers. Otherwise, it is discreetly silent."

"Your mother is a very clever woman, Lili," Cameron said. "She must be to deceive such an efficient organization as the Gestapo."

"If you'll pardon me, Herr Cameron, it is not always efficient. It is vicious and almost incredibly stupid about many things. They consider mother one of their most valuable agents."

"What do you mean?" Claire asked.

"As she told you, she serves them as well as people the Nazis regard as deadly enemies. It is the only way we can exist. She is in a position to hear many things in her shop. Some she reports, some she does not."

"But doesn't her conscience bother her?"

"Not at all. Why should it? Those she betrays are Nazis of the worst sort—deadly enemies of the real Germany. She is serving our cause by denouncing them."

Cameron shook his head.

"Your mother is playing a very dangerous game, Lili," he said. "Inevitably she must be found out. And you know what that will mean."

"Of course. We both know, but we are resigned to it. Even if discovery should come today, and we had to pay the supreme penalty, we have avenged father. We have made the Nazis pay a hundred times over for his murder, and when we go, we know that others like us will carry on the fight from within."

Claire was thrilled by the German girl's words, and impulsively put her arms about her and kissed her pale cheek just as the buzzer sounded twice. Cameron and Claire hurried to their place of refuge, but Lili stopped them before the panel slid shut. She had recognized her mother's signal and the older woman's cough outside the door.

Frau Weber had heard nothing further, except that her message had been sent to France by short wave asking that a plane be sent to permit her refugees to make their escape as soon as possible.

Lili went down and stayed in the shop during the luncheon hour, and then returned when her mother had eaten.

There were no further alarms that afternoon, and Lili and Claire had dinner prepared when the older woman came upstairs about 6 o'clock after locking the store for the night.

"Anything new?" Cameron inquired eagerly as she came in.

"Nothing. Herr Roland dropped in for a minute on his way to headquarters. He seemed greatly upset at news of your escape and blamed the stupidity of the officers who had you in charge. He hinted very strongly that several leaders might suffer, and then hurried away."

"Perhaps Mr. Roland will not be so free with his threats if he dares to return to Paris," Cameron commented. "One good thing about all this affair is that we now have definite proof of what counter-espionage agents merely suspected before—that Roland is a leader in the Nazi spy ring in France."

"Don't forget," Frau Weber cautioned, "that you're not out of this yet. Many things may happen."

After dinner, she and her daughter prepared to go out to a Nazi meeting in the neighborhood.

"I don't want to go and neither does Lili," she told them. "I'm afraid to leave you here alone, but we dare not fail to appear at the meeting. A careful check is made, and those who do not attend are immediately placed under strict surveillance. That's something we don't dare to invite, if we are to continue to serve as we have."

"Go right ahead," Cameron urged. "Nothing will happen. We'll be all right."

Claire and Cameron were sitting quietly reading half an hour later when the girl's keen ears heard a sound outside the flat. Motioning Bill to silence, she crept silently across the room, through Frau Weber's bedroom and into the hideout, with Cameron following closely and closing the wardrobe and the wall panel securely behind them.

Straining their ears, a few minutes later both heard a key being carefully inserted in the outside lock, a stealthy sound as though some one had entered. They heard a movement in the bedroom, and then suddenly a voice called out sharply, in English:

"Come out of there Cameron! We know where you're hiding! The place is surrounded, and you can't escape this time!"

Claire stuffed her handkerchief in her mouth to keep from crying aloud and the fingers of her right hand convulsively clutched Bill's tensed forearm.

CITES STORM OVERLOAD IN SEWAGE REPORT

Turner Says Plant By-Passed 630,000 Gallons of Raw Sewage in January.

City officials had before them today a report from Plant Superintendent James R. Turner showing that a total of 530,000 gallons of raw sewage was by-passed at the sewage treatment plant during January.

Pointing out that storm flows in excess of the capacity of the plant have been by-passed ever since it was placed in operation, Turner estimated that the total flow to the disposal plant last month was 81 million gallons.

Of this amount, he said, 80,480,000 gallons was fully treated and that the estimated excess was by-passed before ever reaching the plant.

Turner reported the overload was by-passed on Jan. 13 as the result of a storm which overtaxed the sanitary sewer system from roof water diverted into the system.

99 Per Cent Treated.

His report showed that 99 per cent of the sewage reaching the plant received full treatment and had a purification percentage of 90 per cent, a one per cent drop from January, 1939.

Total operating costs at the plant last month were $1,916, or an average cost of $23.70 per million gallons, Turner reported.

The total cost of electricity used was $657, of which 97 per cent could have been saved had the sewage gas produced at the plant been used to generate electric power, he added

Germans Extend Death Penalty For 'Gangsters'

BERLIN —(INS)— "Death to gangsters" is the slogan of the Reich in its struggle against criminal elements.

The Council of Ministers for the Defense of the Reich, upon the request of the Minister of Justice, issued new and stricter regulations for the punishment of capital criminal offenders

"The severest procedure," it is stated, "has now been decided on against any gangster applying gangster methods before or after the commitment of a crime."

From now on everyone employing knives, firearms or similar dangerous weapons, such as acid, or threatening the life of another person with the use of arms to commit rape, holdup, burglary or any other capital crime will be sentenced to death. The same punishment awaits criminals using arms to attack or hold off pursuers.

All such cases will be dealt with exclusively by a special court.

The regulations put an end to any "mollycoddling" methods against such criminals caught before completing this crime. Thus, criminals firing at persons without hitting the person will be given the same verdict as if murder actually had occurred. Any burglar, disturbed before committing his deed, will be also given the death penalty.

Two millionaires, Alfred Vanderbilt and Angier Biddle Duke topped the list. Paul V. McNutt, presidential possibility, was selected as the "best-dressed figure in the political world." The group also included Thomas E. Dewey, also a presidential contender. National fashion honors also went to Lucius Beebe, New York columnist, and twenty others.

DISEASE FREE POTATO FOUND

Northwest Washington Farmer Develops Tuber, Starts Industry.

CUSTER, Wash —A new Northwest Washington farm industry—the growing of certified, disease-free seed potatoes — attained its commercial majority recently with the shipment to Argentina of 61,950 crates of White Rose seed stock from 700 acres of Whatcom and Skagit county land.

The 32 growers also planned to ship 50 carloads to California, 26 cars to Alabama and other carloads to Oregon, Idaho and Montana.

The crop and the industry stems directly from two burlap bags of White Rose seed spuds Oscar Ebe tried out on his farm near here nine seasons ago.

He got them from Minnesota, and used the unit planting system —quartering each potato and yanking out all four hills if one quarter showed disease. The first season his plants were 35 per cent diseased. The second, using only the disease-free stock for seed, he cut disease down to 7 per cent. That was all the encouragement Ebe and his neighbors needed.

They obtained some of his stock and started in a small way. As the demand grew, they increased their acreage until it became a major enterprise with 32 of them

The demand from California and South America alone puts it on what promises to be a permanent basis, said Louis King, county farm agent.

Most of the plantings are on leased pasture land, rich in humus and free of disease. Growers use 1,000 pounds of standard commercial fertilizer and 10 pounds of borax per acre.

King found growers figure a $100 per acre growing cost. The yield averages six to seven tons per acre, running about 70 per cent No 1 grade stock. The Argentine contract paid them $23 per ton for No. 1's and $18 a ton for No. 2's.

ARMY RECORDS OF 1820 LIST 3 FOR DESERTION, TREACHERY

(By United Press)

TULSA, Okla. — The federal government sought unsuccessfully for years to find three army deserters who stole the first army survey of the Arkansas river, a study of old court documents here reveals.

The robbery occurred on the night of Aug. 22, 1820 as a party of six enlisted men and a naturalist under Capt. John R Bell camped near what is present-day Tulsa after exploring and mapping the Arkansas from its source. The three men deserted, taking with them horses, money, food and the precious saddlebags containing the notes taken on the arduous trip.

The men never were traced, it was indicated by the records, although reward notices were posted by the army for years afterward.

Spain, in the treaty of 1819, had abandoned its former claim to all lands drained by the Arkansas river and had agreed upon the Red river as a part of the southern boundary of the United States' Louisiana Purchase.

The government ordered Maj. Stephen Long to explore and map the river and his expedition set out early in 1820 They reached the source of a sizable river which they guessed correctly to be the Arkansas. Major Long detailed Capt. Bell and the naturalist, Thomas Say, to make a complete survey of the river The survey was painstakingly and accurately made in two months of work.

Bell's party reached the confluence of the Cimarron river at the site of modern Keystone, on Aug. 21. They camped the next night, Aug. 22, along the river, 19 miles to the east. Justly proud of their detailed notes, Bell and Say had kept close watch over them. But as they neared their journey's end, their vigilance relaxed.

Before dawn, Capt. Bell awakened with a sense of something wrong. There was no noise of horses tethered nearby and the sentry failed to answer his call. Two of the party were missing.

They probably rode due south to the Spanish Mexican border with their loot and the men themselves disappeared insofar as authorities were concerned.

In addition to the Baby show, there will be an "Emissary of Good Will" election in which a Richland county girl will be chosen to preside over the Coronation ball. ALLIES EXPECT POLISH FORCES' AID BY SPRING

Maximum of Five Divisions to Be Raised in France, London Believes.

(By United Press)

LONDON — The new Polish army in France and air force units in both France and Britain will be ready for action some time in the spring if necessary, according to Major Janusz Ilinski of the Polish military mission in London.

No date has been fixed for the new Polish forces to take up arms, extending support of the Allied cause which is now being given by units of the Polish navy serving with the British fleet, but Major Ilinski said significantly in a press interview:

"So many things are expected in the spring that Polish participation may be expected then."

Creation of the Polish army in France began shortly after the outbreak of the war when training camps for officers and noncommissioned officers were established there. The initial training period was fixed at three months, so the Polish army is now ready to absorb large numbers of Poles for training.

The Polish army program envisages four or five divisions, operating as a Polish army under Polish command, under the supreme allied command.

Under arrangements between the Polish, British and French governments Poles between the ages of 21 and 35 are liable for military service.

The Polish army will be composed of officers and men of the Polish army who escaped from Poland. Polish reserves in Britain, France and elsewhere, conscripts from the Polish population in France and Britain and Polish volunteers from all parts of the world.

An agreement is being negotiated with the Canadian government whereunder Polish army units may be formed in Canada on a volunteer basis.

There are approximately 500,000 Poles in France, 4,000,000 in the United States, 150,000 in Canada and some 500,000 in South America from whose ranks will come material for the new army.

The Polish air force will be composed of Polish fliers, mechanics and other personnel who escaped from Poland. A large number of the Polish air force succeeded in escaping, so that enough skilled pilots are available to form several squadrons Training bases have been established in both Britain and France. Planes of the two Allied countries will be used, but the command will be Polish. The units in Britain will concentrate on medium bombing operations.

GERMANS TRAIN DOGS FOR WAR

Teach Canines to Carry Notes Under Shellfire at Front.

SPERENBERG, Germany —(AP)—Dogs with military training are often of greater strategic importance than soldiers, German officers believe.

Severe tests to establish canine fitness for various types of war work are applied at the army dog school outside Sperenberg, some 30 miles south of Berlin, before a dog can qualify for special military training.

A few days ago 45 candidates were subjected to gruelling tests. Only 17 passed the "dog college entrance examinations."

The German army needs trained dogs to find wounded soldiers during and after a battle; to carry messages to the foremost front trenches; to protect military objects against trespassers, and to haul ammunition and provisions carts, even though hell be a-poppin' round about them.

The training is different in each case The dog is taught to react only to certain primitive signs, words, or signals These are different for the various types of service.

The general tests for fitness are the same, however, for all dogs calculated to bring out whether a canine is courageous, or whether he has a yellow streak.

SHIPS HELD IN BRITISH PORT

Officials Reveal Red Tape Responsible for Tie-up of Vessels.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON -The sea captain's lot, these days, is not a happy one.

Officials returning from London tell the story behind the story of why there are 40 to 50 neutral ships at a time lined up in a British control port, say at Kirkwall, the Downs, or Weymouth.

Here's how it works.

Suppose you are the master of an American ship Sailing from New York to Bergen, Norway, you are overtaken southwest of Ireland by a British cruiser and told to put into Weymouth British officers warn against using your radio for any communication

It means veering several hundred miles from your course, but there is no choice in the matter.

You are permitted to go ashore aboard the launch and notify the company agents in London that you are being held in Weymouth You do not know how long you will be there. You then are returned to the ship, where you remain three days without hearing from anyone.

You are ready to chew a hawser in two, because you know the delay is costing the company from $500 to $1,000 a day and it will never get a penny damages except by suing the British government, a suit that might not be settled for many years after the war's end

After three days several British officials come out to the ship in a launch.

Examination of the cargo consumes another three days.

Finally after three days they decide the cargo seems o k. and they say they will report to that effect to the ministry

"When I finally get the release on one of our ships, after 15 or 20 days, it still takes three days before it can be put into effect. It takes one whole day to get the telegram o. k.'d by the right officials before it can be sent to the control port authorizing the release.

Then it takes another day for transmission

The crew are even gladder to move than you They have not been allowed ashore and are fed up with inactivity

16 SCIENTISTS

Reveal Great Discovery About

CONSTIPATION

Tests at World-Famous Hospital Show How To Help Nature Produce Her Own Gentle, Complete "Daily" Bowel Action!

NEW YORK: Constipation sufferers rejoice! For now violent cathartics and laxatives and harsh "roughage" products, many of which are habit forming and are often irritating to bowel lining —can be avoided.

You can now actually help Nature produce her own gentle, complete "daily" bowel movements—thanks to the patient study of 16 Scientists.

You see if waste matter in the colon isn't kept moist it becomes hard, dry, caked and results in constipation. These scientists discovered that a "little daily dose" of Kruschen actually keeps this waste matter moist, soft and easy to expel. Also acts as a mild antacid and kidney diuretic.

There is no nausea, no griping, no violence with Kruschen. Hospital tests report. "Kruschen can be taken for years without having to increase the dose" Inexpensive! Only a trifle for a jar that lasts weeks. Over 245 000,000 jars of Kruschen have been sold thruout the world Kruschen must do the work!

It's the Early Bird that gets the Fun

The model illustrated is the BUICK SUPER *model 51 four-door touring sedan $1109 delivered at Flint, Mich. White sidewall tires additional.

ONE of these days the itch is going to hit you to get out and get in on the fun a Buick can be in the springtime.

You're going to feel an irrepressible yen to touch off that husky, sweet-singing Dynaflash power plant and swing out in gentle coil-spring comfort to take in the fresh spring landscape.

Maybe, like others we know of, you've even got the model picked out, and are just "waiting a few weeks" to do something definite about it.

But may we emphasize, in purely friendly interest, that a lot of other people probably have the same idea.

And that when they start buying in droves—as they do every year about the ides of March—even Buick's big factory has trouble keeping up with them.

Of course, we're doing all we can to be ready for everyone.

But you can get only so many cars in a warehouse.

And a full warehouse can empty awfully fast.

And what with everybody wanting Buicks this season, we can't say how long we can promise the delivery we can give now.

So why not play the early bird this year? Why not get the jump on your neighbor and be driving your Buick while he's still talking about getting his?

You've nothing to lose, a lot of fun to gain—and you'll find the address of your Buick dealer in the phone book.

Not a six but an EIGHT for $895 and up delivered at Flint, Mich. *Transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories — extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

IN THE RUHL BOOK

BY OSCAR RUHL.
News-Journal Sports Editor.

FOLLOWING a custom practiced in Washington, which usually gets a jump on its American league foes by opening a day ahead of its rivals to permit the president to toss out the first ball, Mansfield will launch the Ohio State league season one day in advance of the regular opening this year.

Of course President Roosevelt will not honor the Braves with his presence but Chief Joe C. Hartline considered the advance opener as more appropriate than a Friday inaugural.

Mansfield was scheduled to open at Lima Thursday March 2 and this automatically made Friday the Mansfield home opener. With so many other events scheduled on this evening, it was thought best to change to Wednesday.

* * *

This schedule change will not cause a schedule mix-up, and operators of the Mansfield club can be credited with making a smart move.

Season Extends Into Grid Campaign.

THE adoption of the 130-game schedule again assures Mansfield fans of what should be 65 games of high class baseball at the Fairground.

This is the same number played in the Ohio wheel last season and although there has been some agitation for a shorter card the 130-game schedule was adopted unanimously.

The only objection to the long schedule is that it extends the season into the football campaign, and baseball of a minor league variety has never successfully combated this sport.

The season will still be going when the sports pages are being filled with pre-season grid news, and, in most cities, the opening games will be staged before the completion of the Shaughnessy playoff to follow the close of the season on Labor Day.

It was surprising to learn that the Shaughnessy plan was again adopted by the league.

As it happened the playoff was a financial success in two of the four cities involved in the playoff — last season.

Lima and Findlay made money out of the playoff and, Lima, as you remember, was the club which fought to have the season split in June. Refusal of Mansfield owners to vote favorable for the split season was the only thing which saved the Shaughnessy plan last year.

Lima sought the split season last year as it appeared definitely out of the title race in mid-season. It rallied later and finished fourth at the head of the second division.

It is our belief that the league has not heard the last of the split-season. Chances are that support for the double race will be gained as mid-season nears from teams in the second division.

Whether the split-season will gain enough votes to change the set-up is questionable. It is likely that its fate will depend entirely on the race.

* * *

If the race should develop into a two-team affair, the necessary votes might be obtained. A three-team race will save the Shaughnessy plan.

One Team Could Force Change.

ANOTHER factor that could change the minds of the club operators very easily in regard to the split-season would be the dismal showing of a team financially embarrassed.

In such an event the league would probably think twice before attempting to enforce its adoption of the Shaughnessy plan to save the circuit.

There is no reason to suspect that the league will be financially shaky this year but as they say anything can happen in baseball.

Judge Landis' suggestion for a reduction in the number of farm clubs may be forthcoming. Ohio league clubs this year

Decide Court Crown

Blue Goose, Westinghouse Clubs Tangle in Title Game at Tyger Lair Tonight.

THERE should be a good-sized crowd in the gymnasium at the high school tonight when the City Class A league completes the second round of play.

Two games are on tonight's basketball card, and, while both tilts should be interesting, one is more important than the other.

* * *

The all-important setto will involve the Blue Goose Sohioans and Westinghouse Electrics, and the championship of the second round will go to the winner.

It is not necessary for the Sohioans to win tonight to get into the titular playoff, but they are not expected to hold back anything in this game.

The Blue Goose club is anxious to finish the second round without a defeat and the Westinghouse five is the only team standing in its way.

The Electrics likewise are anxious to win as this may be their last opportunity to get into the title playoff.

Westinghouse finished in the cellar in the first round, and, unless another round is played, the club must win tonight to get into the playoff.

* * *

This game will go on the boards at 8:30 p. m. The other game between the Yuncker Sports and Shelley Chocolates is scheduled at 7:30 p. m. The first game will determine which team will finish in the cellar this round.

Collide In Final Games Tonight

Racmelton Farm cagers, who won the first round title last week play the Moose Lodge club, the Rex Billiards tackle the Isaly Dairy five and the Augustine Canfields meet Daley's Cafe in final games of the opening round in the Senior Class A league at the Friendly House tonight.

Schools Stage Skates Derby

Races, Fancy Skating on Bill at Park Saturday.

A Silver Skates derby will be staged under the supervision of the physical education department of Mansfield schools at North Lake park Saturday.

The ice is already being prepared for the event. Harry Merock, director of the department, said today.

* * *

The competition will be divided into three divisions for grade, junior and high school students. In addition to the various dashes and relays, the program will include fancy skating.

* * *

The grade school events will start at 9:30 a. m. and will be followed by junior and senior high skaters at 2 p. m. The events follow:

SLAMMIN' SAM GALLERY CHOICE IN TEXAS PLAY

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—(AP)—Slammin' Sam Snead rejoined his wandering brethren of the winter golf trail today and despite a prolonged layoff spent in a dentist's chair became one of the favorites to win the Texas open $5,000 tournament over a compact course he had never seen.

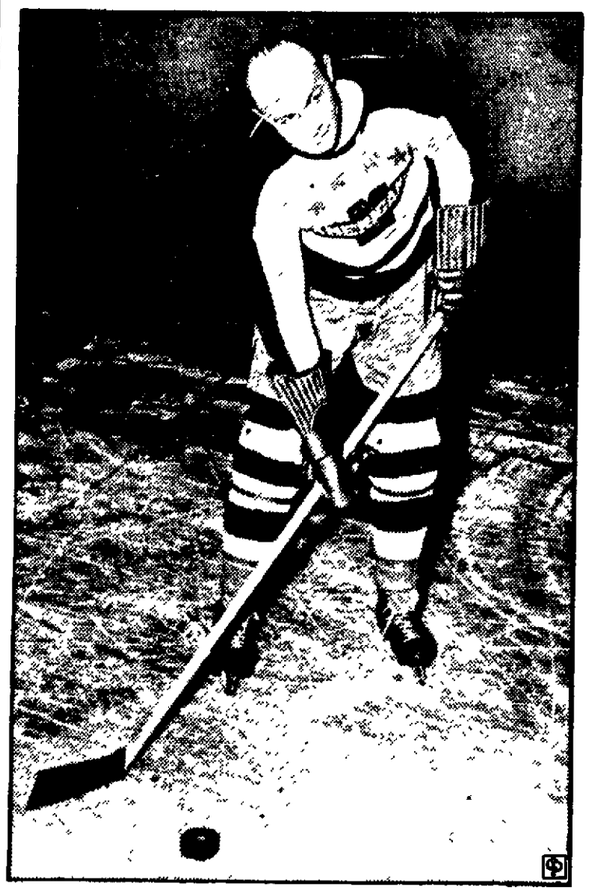
HOCKEY RESULTS
International American

New Uniform for Ice Star



Hockey's greatest player, Eddie Shore, 38-year-old defense veteran of the ice, is wearing a new uniform these days. Eddie, long a No. 1 attraction with the Boston Bruins, recently was sold to the New Haven Americans following a squabble over Eddie's right to play with the Springfield club of the International-American league. The hockey king is owner of that club. Eddie now plans to play both with Springfield and with the Americans.

Heiser's 673 Wins Individual Honors

JENNINGS HEISER of the Order Service team Westinghouse league, held the spotlight at the Meder Recreation alleys last night with a 673 total. Despite his fine count, the Order Service keglers dropped two tilts to the Accountants.

Heiser started off with a 247 game and finished with identical scores of 213.

Other big Westinghouse scores were registered by P. Herlihy of the Rate team, 600, and R. Miller, Range Assembly No. 2, 602.

The Mansfielders, led by Dale Cleckner's 637, which included a 249, and Sonny Meder's 605, blasted out a 2755 to win team scoring honors by the margin of one pin from their foes Weidner Pontiacs.

The Pontiacs, however won two games from the Mansfielders in their City league match. Brig Young's 607 was high for the Pontiacs.

Ed Meder led the Greystone Nite club to a 2716 series and a pair of wins over Long Bar with his 601 and the Lutz Lumbers came through with a 2715 as it won two games from the Ingram & Martin Oldsmobiles. Nick Schmidt rolled a 605 for the losers.

In a postponed Club league match, the American Legion batted out a 2740 count to win two games from the J. A. C. club.

First M. E. Remains In Front

Defeats Mayflower, 43 to 36, to Retain Top Berth in Church A League.

FIRST METHODIST dusted off the Mayflower quintet, 43 to 36, last on the Y. M. C. A. hardwood to retain possession of first place in the Church Class A league championship race.

Park Avenue Baptist, which dropped out of a tie for the lead last week by losing to First Methodist, remained in the runner-up post by handing the Central Methodist combine a '29 to 24 beating.

The St. John's Evangelicals defeated the First Lutherans, 32 to 26, in the other game on the weekly program.

* * *

The Mayflower cagers gave the leaders a scare in the initial period but couldn't halt the Methodists' scoring attack the rest of the way. Mayflower piled up a 10-7 lead in the first frame, but the pace-makers went ahead 23 to 15 at the intermission. The winners led, 35 to 28, as the clubs opened the last quarter.

Fogel was high-point man for the Methodist with 12 tallies, while Hazle and Clemons added 10 markers apiece. Russel of the losers, won individual honors with 13 points.

Baptist ran wild in the opening half to take a command advantage. The Baptist team led, 14-5, in the initial period, 29-11, at the half, and 33-17, at the end of the third chapter. Rayburn led the scoring with 19 points.

* * *

The St. John's outfit led from the opening gun over the Lutherans. The quarters ended, 6-2, 13-1, and 25-19. Reichert of the Lutherans was high with 12 points. Kaseros paced the winners with eight markers. Every member of the St. John's team scored at least two points.

Bishop Cagers Hard to Stop

Wesleyan Beats De Sales, 61-60, in Final Seconds.

(By Associated Press)

When sharpshooter Billy Rohn gets the range, the Ohio Wesleyan cagers are hard to stop. Last night Billy fired six long-distance goals, the last one coming in the final five seconds to give the Bishops a 61 to 60 victory over De Sales.

The Delaware five was on top at the half, 34 to 27, but trailed 57 to 50 with four minutes to play. Center Ed Baroody also tallied 12 points.

Rohr's sensational shooting nullified a great performance by Bill Thompson, De Sales center, who tossed in 12 goals and four fouls to contribute almost half his team's points.

* * *

Ashland took a 26 to 21 halftime lead in its tussle with St. Bonaventure, but fell before the New York State team's late attack to lose, 55 to 44. The Saints had a 39 to 37 margin going into the fourth period. Center Scobey had 13 points and Forward Plank 10 for the Ohioans.

RICHLAND GASCO TEAM TENTH IN OHIO SHOOT

In class A the Newark juniors were third with 976, Lima American Legion No. 1 team, eighth 924 and Richland Gasco, Mansfield, tenth 922.

SOUTH AMERICA TO HEAR BOUT VIA SHORT WAVE

NEW YORK—(AP)—Besides a coast to coast network of 78 stations, the broadcast of Champion Joe Louis fight with the Chilean heavyweight contender Arturo Godoy Friday night will be put on the short waves for South America. The regular and short wave transmissions will have different sponsors.

Plenty of Betting, But It's on Knockout

Louis Is Rated So Highly That His Next Defense Has Already Been Set.

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK—(AP)—The boys who bet a bob or two on the fights are "getting down" for plenty on tomorrow night's Joe Louis-Arturo Godoy championship shindig, despite the fact the Brown Bomber is rated so highly that his next title defense already has been lined up.

Promoter Mike Jacobs, who directs the activities of the fight game's most expensive and dangerous piece of bric-a-brac broke just about all rules for fistic publicity last night in announcing on the eve of one title tilt, that Louis' next trip to the post would be in April against Johnny Paychek, the thin-haired heavyweight out of Des Moines who recently has run up quite a victory string.

Of course, "Uncle Mike" did qualify the announcement by pointing out that Louis would have to whip Godoy first, in 15 rounds or less tomorrow in Madison Square Garden. But not even the Chilean fisherman's best friends would tell him he figured to dethrone the champion.

Even the bettors having examined the somewhat peculiar "schedule" of odds for the fight, let the 1 to 7 price on the Bomber to finish on top in his ninth title defense strictly alone. Instead, they climbed aboard another item as a cinch to put meat and potatoes on the table.

This was a quotation of even money that Godoy would last five rounds. The odds-makers have rigged up a scale on just how long Arturo would be around, making him 1 to 2 to hang on for ten and 1 to 4 to be on deck at the finish.

But the major betting was by the folks who dug down to put up their "fresh" on the chance that they'd get their money back on Arturo's durability and ability to answer the bell for the sixth heat.

Anyway, there are a lot of folks who are going to be around to see the thing unfold. At this writing it looks like some 19,000 cash customers will be on hand and "chip in" a pot of $110,000.

With taxes on promotion taken off Louis' 40 per cent of this should amount to about $40,000 and bring his ring earnings to over $1,700,000 for his skyrocket career.

Louis will be busy keeping several other of his records going, as well as the financial one. He has a string of seven straight title knockouts now and, as always, says he'll repeat this time "jes' as soon as I hit him the first good poke."

* * *

Arturo, however, claims he'll have considerable to say about it. "I am confident," he proclaimed today, "that I will be the first South American to win the heavyweight title." Well, the odds still are 1 to 7 that he doesn't.

Fall for Her? Tenpins Do!

It seems to us that not only tenpins on a bowling alley would fall for this kegling kutie, Billie Cheesman, Ogden, Utah, beauty, who has taken up the indoor sport in a big way. (Daddy, please buy me a train ticket for Ogden.)

Tyger Cagers Return To Practice Court

Hoffman Gives Charges Rest In Preparation for Saturday's Game With Shelby.

THE TYGER CAGERS of Mansfield high school returned to the practice court today after their longest layoff of the season.

Believing a rest would give the Tygers new life, Coach Vern Hoffman kept his charges idle until today when they launched drills in preparation for Saturday night's [illegible] game with Shelby.

This is the first of the four final games on the fading schedule, and it is a tilt that the Tygers are anxious to win.

Mansfield found the Whippets anything but push-overs in their first game, and it will not take them lightly in Saturday's tilt. The Tygers were forced to go into an overtime period to trim Shelby on the Bordertown court several weeks ago.

Shelby is one of two former N. C. O. conference foes on the Mansfield schedule, and the Tygers' record to date shows one victory and one defeat.

The defeat was suffered in last week's meeting with Ashland, which will be met on the Mansfield court next Tuesday.

Other foes remaining on the Mansfield card this year are Canton McKinley and Massillon. The game scheduled with Findlay March 1 has been cancelled due to the district tournament which opens on that day.

OPPOSES OPEN TENNIS MATCHES FOR RELIEF

NEW YORK—(AP)—The Finnish Relief Fund received its first setback in sports today when the United States Lawn Tennis association, through its President Holcombe Ward, opposed open tennis matches for Finnish or any other kind of relief.

Ward, in letters to Bryan (Bitsy) Grant, former Davis Cup player now in Florida, made known the attitude of the association toward proposed exhibition matches between the highest ranking amateur and professional players. The association believed, Ward said, that it would be unwise to make a precedent.

Red Birds Keep Streak Intact

Defeat Perrysville, 37-30, for 13th Victory.

LOUDONVILLE—The Loudonville high Red Birds didn't let the "jinx" get a chance to work here last night as they chalked up their 13th consecutive win of the season by turning back a stubborn Perrysville high quintet, 37 to 30, before a large crowd.

Loudonville, which lost its opening game to Ashland high, secured an early advantage, but the Admirals nearly wiped it out in the third frame.

The Red Birds were ahead, 11-8, in the opening period, 25-17, at the intermission, and, 28-26, at the end of the third chapter. Mutchler, Loudonville forward, was high for the evening with 11 points. Christopher led the Admirals with nine tallies. Loudonville reserves won the prelim, 26 to 8.

FINNISH TROOPS ROUT RUSSIANS IN ARCTIC AREA

nerheim line on the Karelian Isthmus.

The communique said that the Karelian Isthmus attacks, in which several Russian divisions participated, were repulsed and that Finnish troops scored new successes northeast of Lake Ladoga and in the Kuhmo sector of the central front.

Fighting was described as particularly violent on the Karelian Isthmus, where the largest Russian forces concentrated since the war started were attacking the Finnish lines, and on the central front, where a battalion of Russians was reported destroyed near Soumussalmi as they led a column attempting to cross the Finnish frontier near Raate.

The Russians made two strong attacks on the Mannerheim Line yesterday, the communique said, but both failed and four Soviet tanks were destroyed.

Reds Accuse French of Paris 'Outrages.'

MOSCOW —(AP)— The Soviet Union has accused French police of widespread raids against Russians and Russian agencies in Paris and has demanded surrender of documents allegedly seized from the Soviet trade office there.

Tass, official Russian news agency, in a communique last night charged that, besides the raid on the trade office, police also searched the premises of Intourist, an organization which assists foreign travel in Russia, a former Soviet school, and residences of certain members of the trade mission.

Tass said the raids came last Monday morning on "verbal instructions of the prefect of police." The Russian ambassador to Paris, Jakob Surits, lodged a protest with the French foreign office.

About 100 men in civilian attire "rushed" into the office of the Russian trade representative, Tass declared. Members of the trade mission who arrived for work in the midst of the search were taken to their homes where searches also were made. Filing cabinets and safes were reported broken open at the trade office

(The affair, as described, bore striking similarity to the sensational "Arcos incident" in London, May 12, 1927, which led to severance of diplomatic relations between Great Britain and Soviet Russia. Relations have since been restored.

(British police raided the London headquarters of Arco, Ltd., Soviet trading company, in a hunt for subversive documents. Tons of papers were carted away but the nature of the seizures never was disclosed).

ing munitions. There seemed a belief that the ships technically might not go to a Russian port but to the Finnish Petsamo front, where the Russians have controlled the coastline since the early days of the war.

As Scandinavian resentment increased against the German campaign of bombing and machine gunning neutral shipping from the air, and Sweden showed anger over the Russian bombing of a Swedish steamship off the Aaland islands, the Scandinavian countries seemed more open in their support of Finland.

At Stockholm a report was published from the commandant of the Swedish volunteer corps in Finland announcing that the corps had shot down a Russian fighting plane.

Two Swedish fire brigades, with their own trucks and engines and all modern equipment, left Stockholm for Finland last night. They will go to danger centers to fight fires started by incendiary bombs from Russian airplanes.

Here the Danish army command announced formally that it had released Colonel Treton-Loof, 62, commander of the crack first regiment of the Copenhagen garrison, at his own request so he could lead the Norwegian legion in Finland.

Germans Making New High-Speed Bombers.

LONDON — (INS)—Germany has perfected a new long-range, high-speed bomber, and is now rushing construction of a huge fleet of them for use in the spring, according to information reaching authoritative quarters in London today.

The plane, a Junkers twin-engined all-metal monoplane, has been adapted from a racing model which has set several world records for flight distance with heavy loads at high speed.

The reich is reported to be building 2,000 of the bombers to replace the Heinkels and Dorniers which are said to have proved "cold meat" for the British eight-gun spitfire pursuits.

The plane was given its first try-out in the September raid on the Firth of Forth.

From the known performance characteristic of the plane it is believed to have been designed specifically for raids on the British Isles.

Its range is rated at 1,300 miles plus, with full fuel and bomb load. The bomber is thus capable of negotiating the 400-mile distance across the North sea from German air bases to Britain and return, yet still have plenty of reserve range to reach towns and targets in many parts of the isles.

MORE CANADIAN TROOPS ARRIVE

Troopships Dock In England as Thousands Cheer.

SOMEWHERE IN BRITAIN—(AP)—Under the wing of Britain's navy, the third contingent of Canadian active service forces have been landed in England.

Like the two previous contingents, the new wave of khaki-clad Canadian fighting men arrived unheralded. Under cover of darkness, grap troopships moved silently up a British river and when the sun rose were lying at anchor surrounded by naval vessels and fishing smacks.

Attracted by the sigh, thousands crowded to docks and promenades overlooking the harbor to wave and cheer.

ASK REPORT ON PELLEY PROBE

Dies Group Wants to Know Findings Made in Check of 'American Hitler.'

parent huge income of Pelley and his associates in their promotion of the silver-shirts—born after Adolf Hitler assumed power in Germany six years ago.

Pelley, a small man with a closely-clipped white beard, told how G-men investigated him three times last May and concluded with the remark that they apparently approved of his work. He also disclosed that the bureau of internal revenue is investigating his income tax returns. J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, denied that the bureau had approved Pelley's activities.

Indicating the huge amount of money involved in the promotion of the silver shirt legion, Pelley declared that the Galahad press, his printing house, was earning $35,000 a year in 1934. He said the silver shirts had 25,000 adherents and 75,000 sympathizers, and that he had turned down an offer of $150,000 to enroll 15,000 Germans in it.

"Of $200,000 I am supposed to have received in eight years, not over 40 per cent came from the Silver Shirts," said Pelley. "Most of it came from my metaphysical and esoteric publications." He agreed that he probably received $80,000 from the silver shirt activities.

Pelley, who evaded the Dies committee for months but yesterday apologized to its members "because I see you are fine, christian gentlemen," was confronted with a quotation from a book in which, after relating that Hitler had assumed power, he said "tomorrow we have the silver shirts." He explained that he had been thinking along the same lines as Hitler before the latter assumed power. He also declared he "thought Hitler had done a good job for the Germans."

The Richland county commissioners, C. L. Mitchel, Guy Stewart, and Ray Hout, and Dog Warden William Miller are attending the sessions.

In his address before the group the governor said the dependence of local taxing subdivisions of the state and federal governments for aid tends to "destroy good local government, the foundation of representative government."

Atty. General Thomas J. Herbert, State Highway Director Robert S. Beightler, and Lieut. Governor Paul M. Herbert were to speak today at the conventions. Sessions will close tonight.

BOSSIE FINALLY TAKES IT EASY

She's Milked in Parlor With All Comforts Science Has to Offer.

(By Associated Press)

SPENCER, Ia—D. A. Thomsen's cows are milked in a parlor.

They have a "maternity ward" all their own.

Each has a drinking cup with running water in individual mangers of smooth, rounded concrete. Their quarters are equipped with a sewage system, washing facilities and a thermostatically-controlled ventilating mechanism.

Thomsen and his two sons milk 46 cows in a new dairy barn, one of the most modern in northwestern Iowa.

Milking machinery is operated by electricity so that human hands never touch the milk. A glass-enclosed "observation room" connects the milking parlor with cooling and bottling rooms.

Stainless metal pipes carry and cool the milk. A complete underground water system is supplied by deep wells.

The barn, in addition to bull pens and a calf "nursery," has storage space for 100 tons of feed, with adjoining silos of 250 tons capacity.

And the "bovine paradise" is fire-proof.

NOMINEES TO PRESENT VIEWS

League of Women Voters to Bring McGregor, Ashbrook Here Next Wednesday.

ments today regarding their nominations.

"I want to thank my friends and the friends of my uncle, the late Congressman Ashbrook, for their genuine support at Tuesday's primary election," Ashbrook said. "I am most appreciative and hope to see all of my constituents during the next three weeks."

"It is my purpose to visit every nook and corner of my district, meet the people and learn first hand the congressional program that will profit them most," McGregor said. "Of some things I am convinced even now. I know that the people of my district want the federal government operated along the lines of common sense business. They would put a stop to wholesale spending and return to the pay-as-you-go basis, as has been done in Ohio. They would abolish one-man rule . . . and they would relieve unemployment by giving large and small industry a chance."

Both men will be asked to express their stand on pending legislation at the meeting of the League Tuesday night. The meeting is open to the public.

Prepares For Official Count.

Meanwhile the Richland county election board, which is carrying the major burden of administration of the two special congressional elections in the 17th district, prepared today to make an official count of the 24,000 votes cast Tuesday in the six counties in the district.

Tabulation sheets for the other five counties were to be sent here today for checking by the board, but the re-check was expected to make little change in the results.

A. F. Porter, clerk of the Richland county board, said all ballots cast in this county, except the defaced ones, had been checked today and only minor changes were shown in the official count.

Because Richland county is the most populous in the six-county district, the board here is the central organization for checking the district's ballots, handling the petitions, and certifying candidates.

Registration in Mansfield, closed for the special Primary Tuesday, had been re-opened today. City voters' registrations and transfers for the congressional election Feb. 27 will be received until the evening of Feb. 21, Porter said.

HOLC DEBTORS CUT PRINCIPAL BY ONE FIFTH

Agency Reveals Equity in Homes Doubled Since 1933; Foreclosures Down.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The average borrower of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, started the new year with double the equity in his home that he possessed when the government refinanced him nearly six years ago.

In a year-end analysis of the corporation's activities since its origination in 1933, Charles A. Jones, general manager, said that the average borrower had crossed $675 of his original $3,000 principal debt off the books. In addition, he said, 65,000 other borrowers have paid in more than $150,000,000 to cancel their debts in full.

The analysis cited that from the average borrower's point of view, he had originally been more than two years delinquent in both principal and interest, and between two and three years on taxes before he was refinanced. On Jan. 1, 1940, 85 per cent of HOLC accounts were in good shape and borrowers had paid back back more than 21 per cent ($700,000,000) of their total principal indebtedness.

Sales Exceed Foreclosures.

From the corporation's point of view, the analysis showed the following review:

1—Sales of repossessed properties exceeded foreclosures by 177 per cent in September, by 460 per cent in October, with a like trend noticed for the last months of 1939.

2—Properties held by the corporation decreased from 90,000 in March to about 81,000 on Nov. 1, 1939.

3—The corporation's expenditures, which amounted to $36,000,000 in 1935, were reduced to $22,000,000 in 1939.

4—Corporation personnel dropped from 22,000 persons in 1934 to 10,500 at the end of 1939.

5—Corporation sale forces disposed of more than 4,000 properties monthly in the largest real estate transaction the United States has ever seen.

Year's Work Formulated.

Corporation duties in 1940 are already laid out. Thousands of original borrowers have to work out their problems and the reconditioning department must handle thousands of repair and improvement jobs each month to make properties attractive for rental and sale.

The vast majority of HOLC borrowers, the analysis continued, are on the way to becoming home owners. The property acquired by the corporation is finding its way back into private hands. This means the government isn't going to have to remain in the real estate business.

Believing that all benefits of the corporation during 1939 were not endowed to HOLC borrowers alone, the analysis cited low interest rates under the plan forced other companies to lower rates, second and third mortgages, exorbitant fees and bad mortgage practices were outlawed, and evils of poor design and shoddy construction were exposed.

PROPAGANDA USED TO BUILD UP PHARAOHS

Historians Discover Egyptian Priests Peddled Hero Tales.

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO — Out of the ruins of Egypt has come news of a propaganda machine 4,000 years old that was as high geared as any in operation today.

And with the news has come the prophecy that all modern propaganda will be sifted down to facts by historians of the future.

Dr. John A. Wilson, professor of Egyptology at the University of Chicago, told the story of ancient Egyptian propaganda, disseminated by priests to make heroes of the Paroahs.

"Before 2000 B. C., said Dr. Wilson, "the Pharoah had been credited with the usual state successes. He appears in public monuments in heroic form, smiting his enemies. But it is only after 2000 B. C. that we see a conscious building up of the Pharoah as an all-wise and all-powerful god-king.

"The priesthood was directly interested in building up the Pharoah as a superhuman here. His physical success, when enlarged by their propaganda, meant generous rewards for their gods."

The priests had to peddle their propaganda by word of mouth because the general population was unable to read. This method, however, was as effective as the radio-newspaper-cable methods of modern propagandists. Dr. Wilson pointed out it took 4,000 years to untangle the true from the false in Egyptian history.

New discoveries, he said, have enabled historians to determine the truth of Egyptian history, just as future discoveries will permit historians to write a true history of the world today.

CAN CZECHS BE BREWING REVOLT

'Silent News Service' Tells of Secret Unrest on Protectorate.

(By Associated Press)

PRAGUE—Are the Czechs brewing a revolt?

Frequent warnings by members of the German protectorate government would seem to indicate as much, but Czechs scoff at the suggestion of an immediate uprising.

The warnings have been aimed at a Czech "doppel-spiel" (double game) whereby the Czech government urges co-operation but the people do the contrary.

Loss of independence has caused Czech nationalism to mount. The people cling more doggedly to their culture and purely Czech manners.

They delight in underground activities, in attempts to circumvent laws made for them and in sitting with arms folded until the boss tells them what to do.

Small illegal newspapers of curious design exist. So does a mysterious (whispering information service.

What one Czech knows, they all seem to know simultaneously.

Most of the stories which circulate by this "silent news" service are stigmatized by German authorities as pure bunk.

The Czech government has started a winter relief fund similar to the one in vogue in the Reich. Money gathered by rattling tin cans on streets, Czech's say with a wink, goes to support these three quarters of a million unemployed who refuse to go to Germany to work.

Czechs also believe that their three years stocks of leather, cotton and wool and what iron ores they had have been hauled off to the Reich.

GOING STRONG

Al Jolson's Minstrel Roles Return to Favor.

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Al Jolson's making a new career for himself in the movies playing that fabulous character, Al Jolson.

For three decades he led the nation as a box-office attraction, popularizing scores of songs. Eventually the public tired of hearing ma-hammy rhymer with alaba-hammy. "Sonny Boy" palled. Fans turned from sentimentality to sophistication.

Well, that was career No. 1—a mighty good career. For four years Al stayed out of pictures.

Then Jolson and some executives decided the movie-goer of 1939 might care to sample the old songs. There was a tentative mammy-ing in "Rose of Washington Square." People liked it, so in "Hollywood Cavalcade" Al played the Jolson of the old "Jazz Singer."

Now, in "Swanee River," the circle is complete. Al is back as a minstrel.

Forbidden Halo Visible Over Paris at Night

PARIS (AP) Following a report by experts that a "luminous halo" is visible over Paris at night under certain atmospheric conditions, new lighting regulations have been issued.

In the future particular attention must be paid to shading any light which tends to be deflected upwards as from elevator shafts and the upper stories of buildings.

Parisians are also reminded that the "halo" in question was probably caused by growing carelessness, and warned that "not even a glimmer" must be visible from the windows or private residences.

In order to boost business in the French capital after dark one concession has been made. Hereafter shop owners may light their window displays provoking the light is "directed solely on the exhibited objects."

The use of luminous signs remains forbidden.
